COMMITTEE ON BONDS CHOSEN

Completion of the committee that will manage the campaign in support of the $2,500,000 flood bond proposal, scheduled for a vote July 27, was announced today, with the selection of five members under the leadership of A. J. McFadden, prominent Santa Ana agriculturist.

CALL BATTLESHIP COURT OF INQUIRY

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—(UP)—A court of inquiry to fix blame for the grounding of the battleship Tennessee in San Francisco bay was called today aboard the warship in Los Angeles harbor.

The Tennessee returned here, her hull apparently undamaged by resting 39 hours on an Alameda sandbank, navy divers said. The warship becomes flagship of battleship division No. 2.

Rear Admiral Manley H. Simons called the court of inquiry.

SLAYING BRANDED "MURDER"

PORTLAND, Ore., June 15.—(UP)—The slaying of Norman W. Gregg, longshoreman, by a policeman during a free-for-all fight in a San Pedro cafe was branded as "murder" in a resolution adopted late Tuesday by delegates to the third annual convention of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific.

FLOODS, DROUGHTS AND QUAKES OF PAST TOLD BY STEPHENSON

(Editor's Note: In a sincere effort to bring to the public eye the vital importance of whole-hearted and unanimous support of the proposed $2,500,000 flood control bond issue for Orange county, Terry E. Stephenson, widely-known county treasurer, has arranged to write an article for The Register. The first of four installments appears today.)

Floods, droughts, extremes in heat and cold, earthquake and windstorms—all these have come upon what is now Orange county.

All these will come again.

The word "will" is used by anyone who takes the trouble to dig into the history of Southern California.

The annals of California furnish less data concerning extremes of heat and cold and of windstorms

Dr. C. D. Ball, Pioneer Physician, Passes

DEATH TAKES WELL KNOWN CIVIC LEADER

Dr. C. D. Ball, 78, pioneer Santa Ana physician and civic leader, died early this morning at his home, 1919 North Broadway. Death came after a lingering illness. Funeral arrangements have not been completed and will be announced later by Smith and Tut-till.

A resident of Santa Ana since 1887, before Orange county had withdrawn from Los Angeles county, Dr. Ball played an important part in development of the city. For 27 years he served as president of the Santa Ana Library board and served two terms on the Santa Ana Board of Education.

Association President
Dr. Ball assisted in organizing the Orange County Medical Association in 1889 and later served as its president. He also served the organization as secretary for more than two years. In addition to his Orange county affiliations, Dr. Ball was a member of the Southern California Medical society and had served as president of that body. He also was a member of the American Medical association.

A life-long Republican, Dr. Ball had always taken an active interest in political affairs of the city, county, state and nation. In 1920 he was elected a delegate to the national convention in Chicago by a large majority. Later, he was elected to the California assembly, representing the 76th Assembly district. He served in the assembly in 1922 and 1924.

On Exemption Board
During the World war he served as a member of Southern California Exemption Board No. 1 and also served as a member of the Pension Examining board.

Fraternally, he was prominent in Masonic and Odd Fellows circles; the Shrine in Los Angeles and Sons of the American Revolution, California chapter. He also was active in the Orange County Historical society and had served as president of that group.

Actively interested in business affairs Dr. Ball was president of the Abstract and Title Guaranty company in Santa Ana for 35 years and had served as a director of the First National Bank.

Born in Quebec
Dr. Ball was born in Stansfeld, Quebec, October 5, 1859, receiving his literary education in Stansfeld academy and Wesleyan college, Stansfeld. He studied medicine at Bishop's college, in Montreal, receiving his degree of M. D. in 1884. He practiced medicine in his home city until 1887 when he came to Santa Ana. In 1912 he returned to McGill university for further work, receiving the ad eundem degree the same year.

In addition to his widow, Mrs. Emma L. Ball, he is survived by three sons, Charles F. Ball, Milwaukee, Wis., and Dr. Dexter R. Ball, and Dr. John D. Ball, both of Santa Ana, and one daughter, Mrs. Paul Witmer, Santa Ana.

PLANES OFF FOR CANAL TOMORROW

MARCH FIELD, Riverside, Cal., June 16.—(UP)—Six Martin bombers, led by First Lieut. Charles B. Oberacker, will take off promptly at 6 a. m. tomorrow, tip their wings in a salute to the home base and head for new duty in the Panama Canal Zone.

50 U. S. LIQUOR INDICTMENTS DUE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—(UP)—Federal indictments against at least 50 persons, including many officials and prominent citizens, on charges of supplying illicit distillers with raw materials, will be returned either in Fresno or Los Angeles, officials here reported today.

This action, it was said, would follow a year-long investigation by agents of the alcohol tax unit of the internal revenue service.

3 MEN KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

Ernest Gill, 63, his son, Alexander Gill, 32, lease holders at Santa Margarita ranch, San Onofre, and Frank Moore, 39, Standard Oil company employee of San Juan Capistrano, were fatally injured yesterday on the Coast highway, 100 yards south of Orange county line, in San Diego county, while repairing a truck tire at the side of the road.

Walter E. Awe, 34, 151 Reseda drive, Los Angeles, driver of the car which struck the men, was in county jail at San Diego today, charged with negligent homicide, according to Coroner Chester D. Gunn of San Diego county. Awe claims he fell asleep at the wheel of his car, according to officials. Moore was a victim of his own "Good Samaritan" act. He had stopped his car and was helping the Gills when the accident occurred. The Gills were almost instantly killed. Moore died in Santa Ana valley hospital at 12:15 p. m. today from internal injuries.

Bodies of the Gills, whose truck was parked 12 inches off the highway when they were crushed to death, were removed to the Berry funeral chapel, Oceanside, where Coroner Gunn said an inquest would be held, probably Tuesday, at Oceanside. Alexander Gill leaves a wife and two children.

At Verano and Wintersburg roads, early this morning, Salvador Perez, 17, and Albert Mungia, 35, Route 4, Santa Ana, were injured in a car crash. Perez was treated for bruises and possible internal injuries, and Mungia, for severe lacerations of face, arms and chest, at county hospital.

Lloyd Crowder, 414 West Walnut last night furnished police with a license number which he said was on a car which "cut in" on his car, struck it and damaged a fender. He was willing to sign reckless driving complaint.

Italy And Germany To Aid Patrol

BERLIN, June 16.—(UP)—Germany and Italy have decided to return to the international non-intervention agreement on Spain and to active participation in naval patrol service in Spanish waters, it was announced today by DNB, official German news agency.

DNB announced that the German and Italian ambassadors in London had notified the chairman of the non-intervention committee of their governments' decision.

The return was based on the June 12 agreement among Britain, France, Germany and Italy, the four patrol nations, providing for safeguards in case of attack on their vessels.

Germany and Italy withdrew from the agreement on May 31 after Germany had bombarded the Spanish port of Almeria in retaliation for the bombing of the German battleship Deutschland by a loyalist plane.

REBELS PRESS BILBAO DRIVE

With the Nationalist Army, Bilbao Front, June 16.—(UP)—The nationalist forces began hemming in Bilbao from the north and south today in an evident effort to trap the Basque defenders between the sea and the mountains to the south.

Capture Bathing Resort
In the north, the nationalist threatened the rear of Bilbao when, after capturing the bathing resort of Plencia, on the coast northeast of Bilbao, they marched towards the lighthouse village of Guecho.

By moving down the coast, the forces of Gen. Jose Fidel Davila, insurgent commander, appeared to be heading towards the heights back of the estuary of the river Nervion. At the same time, other troops still were cleaning up in front of Bilbao—the south along

COMEDIAN DENIES CLAIM OF DOCTOR

RIVERSIDE, Calif., June 16.—(UP)—W. C. Fields and his doctor were suing each other today over a hospital confinement during which, the doctor says, he reduced the appetite of comedian's whisky consumption from two quarts a day to an ounce and a half.

Dr. Jesse Citron demanded $12,000 for services rendered and Fields, in a counter suit, asked $25,000 from the doctor for alleged mistreatment.

Fields sputtered angrily when commenting on the doctor's testimony. "Two quarts a day, indeed! I'm horrified! I never drank two quarts a day. Not even in the good old days. I don't drink at all now."

Last June 11, according to the evidence, Fields was taken to Riverside Community hospital and confined 25 days. Dr. Citron said the actor was suffering from acute pneumonia, polyneuritis and a bone disease, and had 104 degrees temperature.

F. D. R. HOLDS PARLEYS ON WEALTH PLAN

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—President Roosevelt sought today through a series of White House conferences with legislative leaders to spur action on those sections of his "re-distribution of national wealth" program which are pending before congress.

Embarked on a new policy of forcing division of a greater part of the country's income with what he describes as 40,000,000 under-privileged persons, the president scheduled two meetings with administration, senate and house officials:

Holds Conferences
1.—A conference with Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr.; Treasury Under Secretary Roswell Magill, Sen. Pat Harrison, D. Miss., and Rep. Robert L. Doughton, D. N. C., to discuss the congressional income tax dodging investigation.

The joint senate-house committee hearing will start tomorrow with Morgenthau as the first witness for the administration on its charge that a small group of wealthy persons have been evading and avoiding income tax payments.

2.—A conference with the Democratic house steering committee to discuss the status of New Deal bills in the house which form part of the president's income redistribution program.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would present his redistribution of income program to the nation in more detail sometime this summer in a radio "fireside chat" or another press conference discussion. A survey, indicated, however, that the administration already has started moving in these developments:

1.—Public debt budget: The president estimated the gross public debt would level off at $36,000,000,000 at the end of the fiscal year, then decline. The figure has

REPORT CONTACT IN PARSONS KIDNAPING

STONY BROOK, N. Y., June 16.—(UP)—A mysterious advertisement, published in a New York newspaper, led to belief today that a contact had been established with the person or persons responsible for the disappearance of Mrs. Alice McDowell Parsons from her Long Meadow farm estate a week ago.

Investigators reported "no progress" in their efforts to find the 38 year old society matron.

This advertisement appeared: "M. Sennett. Come home, Telephone Huntington 97."

The telephone number is that of Gerald M. Livingston of West Neck Road, Huntington, N. Y., near the Parsons' farm. Livingston denied that he had inserted the ad, and said he had no desire to act as intermediary.

New York police questioned a taxi driver who reported that a woman resembling Mrs. Parsons rode with him from mid-town Manhattan last night to the Pennsylvania station.

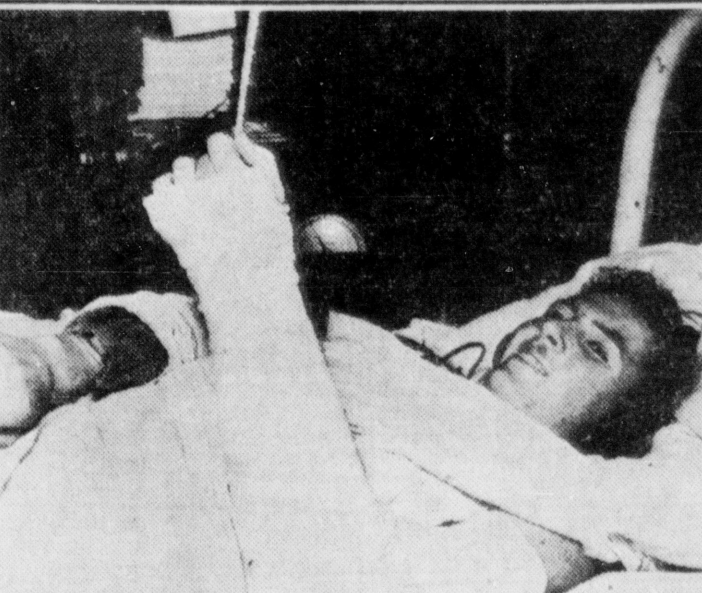

427,329 SLATED TO BE DROPPED BY WPA

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, P. Wis., told the senate today he has just learned that orders have gone out to states to cut 427,329 persons from WPA rolls by July 15.

LaFollette addressed the senate as it considered an amendment by Sen. James E. Byrnes, D. S. C., to the $1,500,000,000 work relief bill, to require local authorities to put up 40 percent of relief costs.

HEAR GRADUATION PROGRAM

With earphones attached to their heads, two seniors in the Orange Union High school last night lay in the beds in hospitals and listened to graduation exercises for their class. Upper photo is Ralph Carnes, 19, injured in an automobile accident, who listened to the ceremony from his bed in the Orange County hospital. Below is Thomas Powell, appendicitis victim, who heard the graduation exercises from his bed in St. Joseph hospital.

School Program Broadcast For 2 Graduates In Hospitals

"This is almost as good as being in the auditorium," Ralph Carnes, 19, said last night as he lay in his bed at the county hospital and listened, by radio, to graduation exercises for his class in the Orange Union High school. The same sentiment was expressed by Thomas Powell, from his bed in St. Joseph's hospital.

Later in the evening classmates brought Carnes and Powell their diplomas.

Carnes, a member of the senior class, was seriously injured in an automobile crash that cost the life of Joe Sanford, another student in the school, and injured three other boys. He was taken to the county hospital where he will be for many painful weeks. Powell was stricken with appendicitis and rushed to the hospital for an operation.

Friends of the two youths were determined that they should not miss the graduation exercises, to which they had been looking forward for years. Plans were made and yesterday technicians rigged up sets of earphones in each boy's room and arrangements completed to broadcast the program for their benefit.

DEPUTIES APPROVE PROJECT OF BLUM

PARIS, June 15.—(UP)—Premier Leon Blum, safely past the chamber of deputies with his project for emergency power to safeguard the national finances, faces a hostile senate Friday for another fight for his political life.

The chamber passed the project by a vote of 348 to 247 this morning, at the end of a turbulent night session, and thus voted the necessary confidence in the government.

Blum saved his cabinet in the chamber only because the Communists, rescinding a previous vote, decided to support him with their 79 votes.

By the vote the chamber accorded the government extraordinary powers until July 31 to decree measures "necessary to the recovery of public finances as well as protection of savings, currency and public credit."

CONDITION UNCHANGED
LONDON, June 16.—(UP)—Sir James Barrie, 77, world famous author and dramatist, spent a somewhat restless night but was otherwise unchanged, his physician announced today. He is suffering from bronchial pneumonia.

KIDNAPING OF WORKER IS CHARGED

CLEVELAND, June 16.—(UP)—Non-striking employees of Youngstown Sheet & Tube company, petitioned the company today to resume operations.

Mayor Daniel A. Shields of Johnstown, Pa., appealed to President Roosevelt to have Chairman John L. Lewis of the CIO "withdraw the murderous element that now infests my city," scene of a strike against Bethlehem Steel corporation.

Parley Plan Rejected
Chairman Tom M. Girdler of Republic Steel corporation rejected an invitation to a third attempted peace conference which Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio had asked him to attend tomorrow "without fail."

Chairman Philip Murray of the CIO Steel Workers' Organizing committee laid the union's side of the strike before Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins today. He said he would leave it to her to decide if federal intervention was needed.

Those were the most significant developments in this 31st day of the steel strike that has affected seven states from Pennsylvania to Chicago, crippled or closed operations of four companies, and made 80,000 mill hands and miners idle.

Steel Contract Issue
The issue is the CIO steel union's demand for a contract. The companies once more stated their refusal to sign. They ignored a statement by President Roosevelt that he did not see why they should not sign if, as they have insisted, they are willing to make a verbal agreement.

INSPECTORS TO OPEN MAIL QUIZ

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—Acting Postmaster General W. W. Howes informed the house post office committee today that "normal mail service" has been maintained to strike bound steel plants at Youngstown, Niles and Warren, O., although there were "a few instances where the mails were delayed."

Post office inspectors, Howes advised the committee, will make "an appropriate investigation of all interference with delivery of the mails," and submit the data to the department of justice for "suitable action."

Howes wrote the committee in response to a resolution introduced by Rep. Dudley White, R. Ohio, demanding all available information regarding the postal situation in the steel strike area. The resolution was pending before the committee. It demanded information whether the postal service refused to deliver certain packages to struck plants, whether either company or labor groups interfered with deliveries.

Chairman James M. Mead Jr. of the post office committee said the resolution would be tabled because the information sought by White had been presented in Howes' letter.

BULLET KILLS BABY

BANCROFT, Idaho, June 16.—(UP)—Jay E. Call, 29 months old baby, died today from a bullet wound inflicted by his four-year-old brother, Clarence.

KANSAS CITY HOTEL STRIKERS HURL BRICKS THROUGH WINDOWS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 16.—(UP)—Hotel strikers, enraged because a settlement plan failed, rioted in downtown Kansas City today and hurled bricks through at least 40 windows in five hotels.

Police used tear gas to repel the demonstrators at the Pickwick hotel and arrested two men and a woman after the largest section of the crowd, milling about the Muehlebach hotel, was dispersed.

American Airlines To Bring Douglas Transport Plane Here Sunday For Air Show

Plans Progress For Colorful Program

Word was received here today that American Airlines will have one of their Douglas DST Sleeper Transport ships here Sunday for the "Million Dollar Air Show" to be held at Eddie Martin Airport under auspices of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

The luxurious sleeper plane, known as the Skysleeper, is being brought here through the efforts of John Martin, Santa Ana and pilot for American Airlines, and Dale Decker, general chairman in charge of the show.

$110,000 Ship
Officials of the American Airlines have rearranged Martin's flight schedule to Fort Worth permitting him to pilot the big ship to Santa Ana.

The 14 passenger sleeper plane cost approximately $110,000 and is one of eight such ships being operated by American Airlines. With this ship on exhibition and new type airplanes produced by practically every manufacturer, officials of the show estimate that there will be approximately $1,000,000 worth of machines on the airport during the day.

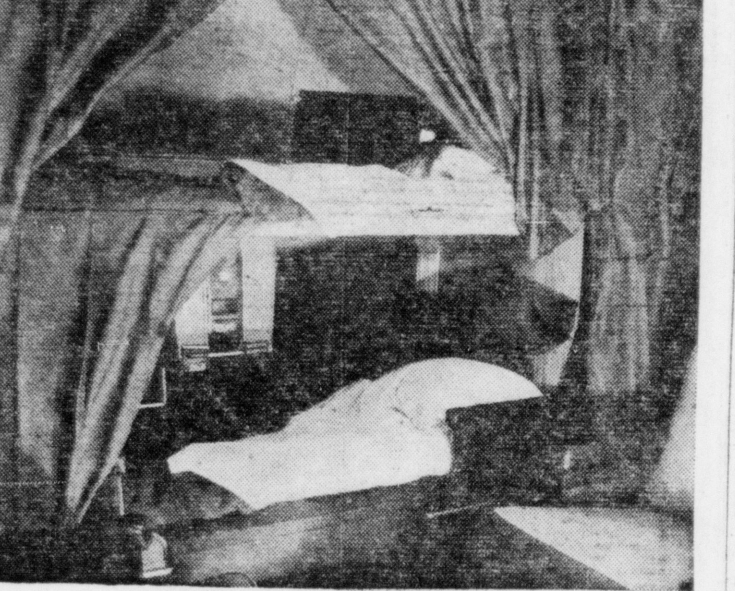

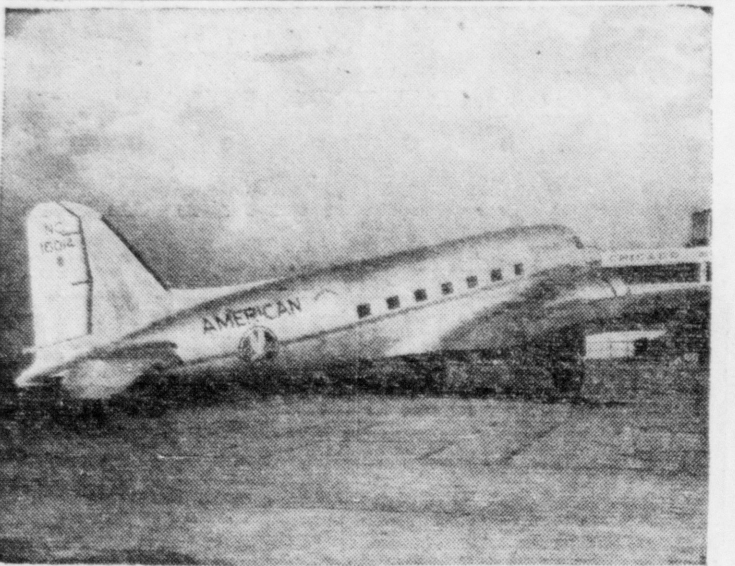

In addition to exhibiting their airplanes, most of the manufacturers have arranged for flying demonstrations during the day.

Varied Program
Fliers from the Army, Navy and Marine corps, will be here and give exhibitions of stunt flying during the afternoon. Opening of the show will be preceded by a barbecue dinner to be served at noon to all licensed pilots of Southern California. Decker said that arrangements are being made to feed 1500 guests.

The program will include stunt flying, parachute jumps and, starting at 5 p. m. a demonstration of model airplanes. This demonstration will include tiny ships that won honors in the National competition held recently in Los Angeles and others.

LUXURIOUS AIR LINER

Upper photo is one of the new Douglas DST Sleeper transport ships operated by American Airlines. One of these ships will be on display at the Eddie Martin Airport, during the Air Show sponsored by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. ORANGE COUNTY FLOODS, QUAKES TO QUIT RUNS ARE REVIEWED OF AMBULANCE

The Orange county hospital henceforth will not operate an ambulance.

The county supervisors late yesterday accepted a proposal by the Orange County Ambulance Company to provide ambulance service for the county hospital, under a plan that will reduce the cost of ambulance service for the county by about one-half, and will relieve the county of liability for accidents.

Accepts Proposal
The proposal was submitted to the board about a month ago, and was under consideration when the county hospital ambulance became involved in an accident last week, that destroyed the ambulance and burned to death driver Earl Riege, 32, and Ray Riley, 27, an orderly, besides injuring another motorist and destroying a service station.

Instead of replacing the lost ambulance, the supervisors yesterday adopted a motion by Supervisor Harry D. Riley, hospital committee man, that the proposal of the Orange County Ambulance Company be accepted.

Own Insurance
Under this arrangement, the ambulance company provides service for $1200 per year, for handling up to 50 cases per month. All cases above the 50-mark will be handled at the rate of $1.25 per case.

The ambulance company carries its own liability insurance and relieves the county of that risk. The petition of Arnold Gamm and other property owners for abandonment of a portion of La Boma street, in the third supervisorial district, was granted by the board yesterday.

Purchase of a mower for the road department was authorized. William Lane, of Tustin, was granted a junk dealer's license. The board denied a pool room license to David Vega, whose application had been disapproved by the sheriff and district attorney.

than they do of earthquakes, floods and droughts. The reason for that is that for nearly a century after the Spaniards settled in California, beginning with the arrival of Portola's expedition in 1769, extremes of heat and cold and windstorms did little damage to the cattle industry, which throughout that century was the foremost industry of California, excepting only the activities resulting from the discovery of gold in 1849.

Floods, droughts and earthquakes however, disturb the people of California throughout that century, as well as during more recent decades.

It is of interest, and perhaps of profit, for us to look back over the pages of history, review some of the things that have happened in this fair land of glorious sunshine, and discuss some of the things that have been done to meet conditions brought about by extreme antics on the part of Dame Nature, and to point out some of the things that have not been done.

About Earthquakes

Severe earthquakes have been few and far between in Orange county. Fortunately, no major earthquake fault cuts through the county, unless the Inglewood fault which touches the western edge is to be numbered as a major earthquake fault. It is, of course, one of the major faults in Southern California. It was responsible for the severe shake of March 10, 1932, and, no doubt, for that temblor of July 23, 1769, described by a number of men who were with Don Gaspar Portola on that occasion, which marked the first passing of white men through the Santa Ana valley.

The year 1812, called "el año de los temblores," brought about the destruction of San Juan Capistrano mission. Extensive damage was done to the mission buildings at Santa Inca and La Purissima. It is likely that the disturbance of 1812 was not so severe as that of 1932. The huge church tower at the mission may have been top-heavy with the weight of its bells, and the church, like many another building of more recent construction, was not built to stand earthquakes.

Heavy Shakes Recorded

There were heavy shakes recorded in Los Angeles July 11, 1856, and January 9, 1857. It was March 26, 1872, that Owens valley suffered its disaster. The town of Lone Pine, shaken to the ground, buried 26 dead. The greatest disaster of all struck San Francisco and the bay region April 18, 1906. The distance of 1932, centering at Compton and Long Beach, did severe damage over a large portion of the coastal plane of the Santa Ana valley.

Let us pause here to ask: What can be done about earthquakes? The answer is: Build to meet them.

Knowing that we do have earthquakes, perhaps only one bad one in half a century or three-quarters of a century, or a century, is it the sensible thing to do to sit idly by, and let the next one come upon us unprepared?

Rigid Restrictions

Most of those municipalities that have suffered the severest earthquake damage — San Francisco, San Jose, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Long Beach, and most municipalities that suffered lesser damage, including Santa Ana, have put into effect building regulations that will protect themselves against heavy damage even should earthquakes more severe than they have experienced hitherto come upon them.

There may be cities in Orange county that have not adopted proper building regulations to protect themselves. There may be some where eternal vigilance does not prevail.

Whatever the situation is, this we do know about earthquakes—we can protect ourselves by building to meet the heaviest, the most damaging earthquakes recorded by history. Steel and reinforced concrete, good mortar between the bricks, good wood construction—these things have been called into use. They are our avenue of assistance.

West for a motor trip East, during which time he is to visit Washington and work for federal approval of several local storm drain projects pending there.

Oddities In Today's News Items

NEW YORK, June 16.—(UP)—David Fawcett, 76, will celebrate his 50th wedding anniversary Sunday by granting free rent for the month of July to all tenants who have lived in his properties for 25 years or more. He has 125 tenants and 10 have lived in his tenements a quarter of a century.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(UP)—Members of the 62nd coast artillery regiment at Fort Totten who get their skin infected because of tattooing will receive no pay while unfit for duty. Col. Frank K. Ferguson, commander of the post, made the ruling. He said that the modern recruit was just as interested in tattooing as the old soldier, but for some strange reason "Just can't take it." Six became ill within a week from tattoo infection.

SUNLAND, Calif., June 16.—(UP)—Stray cats lost one of their best friends when Chief White Eagle died here at the age of 115. Neighbors had him into court once on a complaint that nocturnal yowls from the direction of the chief's home kept them awake. The Indian was found to be caring for more than 100 cats.

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—(UP)—The stray dog population of Los Angeles, estimated at 40,000 of "man's best friends," is headed for its last roundup. The city council appropriated the necessary money for financing a drive to corral all canine "floaters," and shut off future rabies epidemics.

Expect 100 To Participate In Annual Regatta

NEWPORT-BALBOA, June 16.—With the "Flight of the Snowbirds," less than a month away, sponsors of the event are assured that in this year's race there will be well toward 100 entries, according to Harry B. Stewart, chairman of the committee on arrangements from the local Chamber of Commerce. Almost every member of the new junior club, "The Nauticals," is expected to be a contestant in the races this year, either as skipper or crew, it was stated, and several of the high honors are hoped to be annexed within the organization.

The "Flight" is to be consummated on Sunday, July 11, it was announced by the committee in charge, and the starting line is to extend across the bay from the Balboa pavilion to Balboa Island. Regulation signal flags will be in place at the starting line and also at both the east and west ends of the course, it has been assured by Harbormaster Thomas Bouchee. Fire Chief Frank Crocker will send up the signal bombs for preparation and for the start of the race.

Ten special trophies are being offered by the city of Newport Beach, and every boy or girl owning a Snowbird is urged to enter the race, whether a member of the junior yachting fraternity or not. The Chamber of Commerce has also arranged to present every entrant in the races a picture of the start. Assisting Mr. Stewart in carrying out the plans for the program are M. S. "Robbie" Robinson, editor of the yachting magazine, "Sea," Leon Hestman, secretary of the N. H. Y. C., J. A. Beck, commodore of the B. I. Y. C., George Converse, Dr. J. E. Ziegler and Dr. Paul S. McKibben.

OLD INVOICE IRKS GROCER
CLEVELAND, (UP)—Mathew Konfel, veteran grocer, flew into a rage when he saw an invoice for merchandise sold to him by a wholesale grocer. Such prizes as "soap, $6.60 a case—sugar, $28.55 per 100 pounds," were a ridiculous over-charge, according to current prices, he believed. The questioned invoice was dated 1920.

NUMISMATIST IS HEARD BY ROTARY CLUB

The study of money is a partial method of understanding the financial panics that have swept over the country said S. M. Koepfel, of Los Angeles, at the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club yesterday afternoon.

The study of money as a hobby can be both educational and profitable, he pointed out, since a coin collection increases in value as it grows older, and the need for various denominations gives historical information.

Joe Steele, local numismatist, in introducing Koepfel, said that the collection on display at the luncheon was one of the finest in California.

Among the thousands of coins in the collection Koepfel had with him at the luncheon were the "trade dollars" which were coined to stimulate foreign trade in 1872. These pieces are the only existing coins which were minted by the United States and are not legal tender in this country. Another coin of interest was the "half-dime," which is supposed to have come from silver plate which had belonged to Martha Washington. Later on, the "s" was dropped from the coin and we had the word "dime."

During the colonial days various media were used in the place of money, chief of which were wampum, corn, beaver furs (the male skin was called a "buck" and has given us our present slang expression), tobacco, and bullets. It was in 1795 that the first gold coins were struck.

In concluding his remarks Mr. Koepfel stated that the United States now possesses twelve billion dollars worth of gold, and that ought to be enough to make sure our dollar is worth what it says.

RIGGS LEADS FIELD WESTERN WOMEN'S GOLF QUEEN DUSTED INTO SECOND ROUND

RIVER FOREST, Ill., June 16.—Two favorites for the National clay courts tennis championship—Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles and Jack McDiarmid of Chicago—led 15 survivors into the fourth round today at the River Forest Tennis club.

Riggs, the defending champion and the nation's fourth ranking player, whipped Walter Galland of Oak Park, Ill., 6-0, 6-3, yesterday. McDiarmid, a Princeton instructor, defeated Eugene Richards of Chicago, 6-1, 6-4, and another Chicagoan, Seymour Greenberg, 6-4, 7-5.

Two Milwaukee stars—Mrs. Russell Mann and Paula Parker—pulled the upsets eliminating the favorite yesterday. Mrs. Mann defeated Mrs. O. S. Hill, defending champion from Kansas City, 5 and 4. Miss Parker defeated Mrs. Burt Weil, Cincinnati medalist 5 and 4.

increased steadily since he took office.

Mr. Roosevelt had plans to balance the budget in 1938-1939, he said spending would meet government income under his redistribution plan as federal revenue increased with the expansion of national wealth.

Secretary of Commerce Roper estimated the 1936 national income at $65,500,000,000, an increase of almost $9,000,000,000 over 1935.

2.—Taxes—the congressional investigation of alleged income tax avoidance and evasion was to start Thursday. This is an administrative move to obtain larger payments by some high bracket earners through "loophole" legislation this session.

Tax Structure Studied
The government has been studying its whole tax structure with an aim to introducing legislation at the next session of congress making the laws more efficient income producers.

3.—Wage-hour legislation and general labor policy—Mr. Roosevelt specifically mentioned the minimum wage, maximum hour and anti-child labor bill he recommended to this congress as one of the steps of his redistribution of income plan.

4.—Farm tenant aid and agricultural legislation—these two pieces of legislation now pending before congress would spread money through the nation's grass roots section, aiding farm tenants and rehabilitating farmers, partly at the expense of the treasury.

New Department Planned
5.—Judicial—Mr. Roosevelt has considered his plan to enlarge the U. S. supreme court necessary to realization of New Deal goals. His recommendation that congress revamp the executive branch of the government carried a specific request for a new department of social welfare headed by a cabinet officer to administer aid to sub-standard persons.

6.—Expansion of social security—The government's program of old age pensions, unemployment compensation and public welfare was mentioned by the president as the second specific example of the operation of his redistribution plan.

The question has arisen, he said, whether the social security board's present grant of $10 a month to crippled children should be increased.

In addition, there has been agitation to extend the security program beyond the 26,000,000 industrial and commercial workers now under its protection, to another 26,000,000 farm and domestic employees.

7.—Slum clearance—housing—Administration officials have been assigned by the President to find means of financing a program to construct model, low rent apartments and homes to replace city slums. A federal subsidy is the method most likely to be adopted.

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL TO CONNERY

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—The sudden death of Chairman William P. Connery, 48, of the house labor committee today threatened to delay action on the administration's wage and hour bill.

His death yesterday removed from the congressional scene a major proponent of hour restricting legislation which he believed would return thousands of jobs to private employment.

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald said an autopsy showed the final cause of Connery's death was a heart attack brought on by poisoning of the stomach and intestinal tract. He said that the poisoning appeared to have been caused by food but that further analysis was necessary to determine exactly. The autopsy, MacDonald said, was performed as "a matter of public policy."

GUN CHARGE DENIED BY FORD OFFICIALS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 16.—(UP)—Officials of the Ford assembly plant today denied a charge, made by union leaders, that the firm was planning to put its payroll system on a cash basis "so that men armed with machine guns could be at the plant daily."

Baron de Louis, president of the United Automobile Workers' of America local at the Ford plant, addressing a crowd of 2000 Committee For Industrial Organization members at a mass meeting outside the plant last night, said he wanted to warn union men of the new strategy plant managers were considering.

In addition, there has been agitation to extend the security program beyond the 26,000,000 industrial and commercial workers now under its protection, to another 26,000,000 farm and domestic employees.

Administration officials have been assigned by the President to find means of financing a program to construct model, low rent apartments and homes to replace city slums. A federal subsidy is the method most likely to be adopted.

the mountainous Santa Marina sector. The dual operation seemed likely to develop into a nutcracker maneuver in which the Basque force would be trapped in the estuary, between the sea and the heights.

Loyalists Retreat
A mixed column of Carlist monarchists and Requetes (Fascists) marched into Pencia without encountering resistance, the loyalist forces having retired only a few hours before.

Arriving shortly after the occupation, Reynolds Packard, United Press correspondent, found the villagers who remained behind meeting the incoming troops. One of them explained they had hidden in the cellars until the Loyalists withdrew, then emerged with white flags to submit to the insurgents.

Although the village of Guecho is more than 11 miles north of Bilbao, it nevertheless is in a position from which all shipping to and from Bilbao can be controlled.

Pickets Patrol Gates
Meanwhile, regrouped picket lines patrolled the gates of the Cambria plant to guard against a threatened back to work march at Johnston. Minor violence, including the harmless explosion of a bomb, marked early developments today. About 200 state troopers, city police and 150 armed and helmeted volunteer deputies patrolled the area.

The Shields telegram to Mr. Roosevelt, who yesterday indicated his belief that the steel companies should be willing to sign a contract, said:

"I earnestly appeal to John L. Lewis, through you, our president, to withdraw the murderous element that now infests my city. The strikers have grown so badly that the victims of political conniving on the part of John L. Lewis and hidden interests."

In explanation of the kidnapping reference, Shields said a man named James M. Hess, identified by police as a Cambria plant worker, had been abducted Tuesday by six unidentified men, stripped and tossed out at city hall. The mayor said he would offer a $5000 reward for information about the kidnappers. Police made no statement in regard to the asserted abduction.

Telegram To Earle
He also sent a telegram to Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania, saying:

"The strikers are now resorting to kidnapping. Are my citizens to be the victims of political conniving on the part of John L. Lewis and hidden interests?"

A delegation claiming to represent 9000 Sheet and Tube employees in Youngstown told President Frank Purnell these men wanted to go back to work. Their counsel, Ray Thomas, said the men were impatient and unless they could go back soon, there would be "serious trouble."

Purnell said the company would decide a reopening date as soon as protection by local authorities could be assured.

Rival Unions in Pact
Other developments crowded rapidly on strike scene, included: 1. American Federation of Labor and C.I.O. unions in Canton, O., joined in threatening a general strike unless a citizens' vigilante league, formed in connection with the strike at four Republic plants in Canton, was disbanded.

2. Chairman Lewis of the C.I.O. prepared to make his first visit to an area of the steel strike, which has become the C.I.O.'s hardest fight. He will address a meeting in Chicago.

3. Conditions in the strike-bound city of Warren, O., were further complicated by a walkout of 78 telephone operators.

Whatever the situation is, this we do know about earthquakes—we can protect ourselves by building to meet the heaviest, the most damaging earthquakes recorded by history. Steel and reinforced concrete, good mortar between the bricks, good wood construction—these things have been called into use. They are our avenue of assistance.

JURORS IN BOGGS CASE DEADLOCKED

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., June 16.—(UP)—A jury deliberating the sanity of Allan Boggs, convicted wife murderer, remained deadlocked today after it had been locked up for the night upon order of Superior Judge James L. Atteridge.

The jury was reported divided 10 to 2 in favor of a verdict of sanity. It re-entered the court briefly at 11 a. m. to obtain further instructions regarding legal technicalities in connection with premeditated murder, then returned to its chambers.

HOTEL EMPLOYEES REJECT PROPOSAL

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—(UP)—Nearly 2500 employees of the 16 leading hotels in San Francisco remained on strike for their 47th day today after voting 17 to 1 to refuse the hotel operators' "best and final" settlement proposal.

The vote, completed late last night, was 2202 to remain on strike and 124 to return to work.

The suggestion was offered that a get-together social evening and

DEATH NOTICES

A WORD OF COMFORT

You wonder what life in Paradise is like. We have seen it. We have seen the conception of immortality brought to light in the Gospel. It is not mere continuation of such a life, even at its best, as we now enjoy, but a full realization of what comes to us here only in inspired moments.

Think of your dear one as completely satisfied with desires enriched and uplifted beyond your power to estimate or to understand.

The one you love is the same as when on earth except that the finest and best in that one is being heightened and made more beautiful. Strive to prepare yourself for the same experience.

Navy Man Killed In Plane Crash

YONCALLA, Ore., June 16. — (UP)—An inquiry was opened today into the crash of a two place navy scout plane, in which Lieut. Commander Paul Ives, of the U. S. naval reserve, was killed after his mechanic, named Bontron, leaped to safety in his parachute. The plane was en route from Oakland, Calif., to the Sand Point field near Seattle, when, according to Bontron, it ran into a heavy fog and the fliers lost their bearings at an altitude of 1900 feet. Ives feared they would run into a mountain range and told his mechanic to "bail out". A few moments after Bontron leaped he said he heard the plane crash.

Slugs End Life Of N.Y. Gangster

NEW YORK, June 16.—(UP)—John (Kiki) Costello, 30-year-old son of the west side, was as tough as they come—and smart. Police blamed him for many river front killings during prohibition days, but he beat the rap. Costello could be soft when the occasion demanded. Last night he took his year-old son, John Jr., out for a breath of air on the street. While the child dozed in its carriage, Costello hummed a lullaby.

NOTED SPEAKER

Dr. Royal J. Dye, below, heroic figure of the African mission field, will be in Santa Ana next Sunday to make two addresses in local churches.

DR. R. J. DYE TO SPEAK AT LOCAL CHURCH

Dr. Royal J. Dye, noted missionary and lecturer, will make two appearances in Santa Ana next Sunday, speaking in the First Christian church at 9:30 a. m. and at the First M. E. church at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Dye is a former missionary to Africa where he aided in establishing the Congo Christian Mission of the Disciples of Christ at Bolenge, one thousand miles from the mouth of the Congo river.

He began work at the Bolenge Mission station in 1899 and served there until 1907 when Mrs. Dye was compelled to return to America on account of broken health. He later spent a period on this mission field without his family.

This pioneer medical missionary was the only doctor for hundreds of miles in the Congo country to combat the problem of sleeping sickness among the natives and contracted it himself with the result that he had to leave that climate.

Dr. Dye aided in establishing a church at Bolenge that is larger today than any church of his communion in the homeland.

Though unable to return to Africa as a missionary, Dr. Dye, who is described as one of the outstanding missionary speakers of America, has gone across the country addressing conventions, churches, and other groups. Dr. Dye speaks under the auspices of the United Christian Missionary society, Indianapolis, Ind.

Bullet Ends Life Of Redding Girl

REDDING, Calif., June 16.—(UP)—A 12-year-old girl, who was forced to remain at home when she wanted to travel as a hobo, shot and killed herself here, police reported today.

She was Cara May Roberts, who had been living with J. J. Caldwell and Mrs. Caldwell, her half-sister. Mrs. Caldwell said the girl had traveled most of her life with her parents and had been brought here when her mother died in Idaho.

A week ago the girl boarded a freight train and was taken off by city police. She said then that all she wanted to do was to be permitted to travel.

She was left at the Caldwell home last night with her children and when they were returning she was reported to have taken a rifle and shot herself through the head.

"Democracy Decides" will be the topic of the address by W. Ballentine Henley, acting dean of the University of Southern California, when he speaks at the Santa Ana junior college commencement exercises at 4 p. m. tomorrow in the local high school auditorium.

Diplomas will be awarded to 197 graduating sophomores, according to Director D. K. Hammond. This will be the largest class in the history of the college.

Secretarial certificates will be also awarded to 27 commercial students. Four Divisions of awards will be made during the exercises. These include the regular academic honors, the Robert L. Brown prize, the Beta Gamma prize, and the Alpha Gamma prize.

The Brown prize will go to the outstanding man and woman of the class. The college faculty selects the students to whom the $25 will be awarded. Points upon which they are selected are scholastic achievement, leadership in student affairs, catholicity of interests, unselfish service to the college, community character, and health. Louise Saxton, Mary Wallace and Joseph Langland gained these prizes last year. The girls tied.

Wells To Speak
The Beta Gamma prize is offered to the students judged most outstanding in extra-curricular activities. Mary Lou McFarland and Walt Bandick were judged best for the prize last year. The Alpha Gamma prize award is being made for the first time this year.

Frank A. Henderson, superintendent of city schools, will preside over the exercises and award the diploma. George R. Wells, president of the Board of Education, will speak briefly and Director D. K. Hammond will present the class.

Traditional Garb
Music will be provided by the college men and women choruses. "The Light of the Dawning" by Tchaikovsky will be the opening number by the women's chorus and the men's group will sing "Hark! Hark! Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church, will give the benediction.

Graduates will wear the traditional black cap and gown. The college faculty will lead the academic procession followed by the candidates for Associate of Arts degrees and the candidates for certificates in secretarial practice.

Ascot Crowd Gets Momentary Shock

ASCOT, Eng., June 16. — The fashionable Ascot racing throng was given a momentary shock today when the king and queen were involved in a minor accident as their state landau drove into the royal enclosure.

A wheel of the landau caught on the gateway. The postillion of the rear most of the four Windsor greys drawing the carriage struggled with his horse and backed the carriage, but it caught again as the horses started forward. By this time the grandstand was on its feet. On the third attempt, the carriage cleared the post and cheers arose.

The Duke of Gloucester and the Duke of Kent were in the carriage with the king and queen. The king kept smiling during the incident.

(Editor's Note: The comment and opinions of W. F. Rockwell, as appearing in this column are not necessarily those of The Register.)

A turkey dinner will be served at the home of Mrs. R. F. Boswick in Tustin on the evening of Thursday, June 17. The afghan that was displayed at their booth in the bazaar will be given away at this meeting.

Club 1 will have a meeting in the Roosevelt school on East Fourth street at 7:30 p. m. A. M. Mapes will be the speaker.

Tomorrow night at club No. 3 "The Mountaineers from Possum Holler" will entertain a good crowd who want to see this "scream", which is a very popular entertainment. Be sure to see it at 7:30 p. m. in Townsend hall, 509 West Fourth street.

Townsend women of Orange county will gather at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow in Townsend hall, 509 West Fourth street, for a social time with pot luck dinner. Bring one covered dish and sandwiches, also bring someone with you, if possible, one who is not a member of a Townsend club. Tomorrow, Thursday, June 17, 11:30 a. m.

Today's papers tell of Congressman Sheppard's rapping McGroarty for his derogatory statements in the house about Dr. Townsend, and that only one congressman, Representative Luckey, Democrat, Nebraska, had withdrawn his signature from the petition to discharge the Townsend document from committee. This shows statements used to change people's minds.

Miss Townsend will not desert Dr. Townsend now, but will rally to him and work harder than ever for the success of the Townsend plan. To do otherwise is ignoble.

At the Fullerton Townsend meeting Monday night, the Rev. Joe Nation said Dr. Townsend's stand on the Supreme Court issue, that it is more important that the success of his Welfare Act, compares with

Y. W. SUMMER CAMP OPENED AT CATALINA

Opening of Y. W. C. A. camp Torqua at Catalina Island June 21 for the first event of the summer was announced today by Miss Mary Porter, local Girl Reserve secretary, who set Friday as the deadline for accepting reservations.

In session for a week beginning next Monday, camp will be open to girls between the ages of 12 and 18. Campers will sail Monday at 10 a. m. from Wilmington on the Catalina. Parents and friends who wish to make the trip will be extended the same reduced rates as the girls are receiving, it was said.

Miss Porter, as camp director, will be assisted by Girl Reserve Secretaries Miss Edna Munford of Fullerton and Mrs. Charles Robinson of Anaheim. Camp staff will include Miss Suzanne Clark, Miss Dorothy Guthrie, swimming, assisted by Miss Maxine Knight, junior counselor; Miss Margaret Fine, Miss Roberta Nichols, Miss Marian Hawk, handicraft; Miss Clara Spelman, music; Miss Lois Kiser, dramatics; Miss Eleanor Walker, camp paper; Mrs. Logan Wheatly, nature lore; Mrs. Cora Pickenpaugh, nurse.

The program will include swimming, boating, hiking, evening campfire events, devotionals, excursions; and study of various subjects. The health of the campers is watched carefully, and the program planned to include ample rest, Miss Porter announced today.

Vinnie Ream, young Washington sculptor, was the first woman to receive a federal art commission. She executed the statue of Lincoln in the rotunda of the Capitol under this commission.

Patrick Henry's immortal words, "Give me liberty or give me death." People who think, see why Dr. Townsend spoke words equally of immortal record in history.

If every "Townsendite" would feel he has a responsible part in making the Townsend plan succeed, he would not waste a single moment in this regard.

General Hugh S. JOHNSON

NEW YORK CITY.—This column is accused of writing "with its tongue in its cheek" when, in deducing from the whole combination of recent legislative proposals an intent to wreck our form of government, it absolved the President. It pleads not guilty. Mr. Roosevelt came into office on a pledge to restore balance in our economic structure. He proposed to do that by shoring up the depressed segments and leveling off the exaggerated peaks. Agriculture, deliberately prejudiced by our tariff policy, was one low point. The organization of labor had lagged far behind the astonishing recent organization of industry. This was another low spot. Abuses in banking, securities and public utilities fields were obviously responsible for much of the 1929 catastrophe. Big business had for decades sat in the principal places at the White House council table. Mr. Roosevelt was elected to raise those valleys, reduce those peaks and to recognize that ours is a government of all the people.

In the statement of these purposes, this writer had some part, and for their brilliant accomplishment by the President, this column has had nothing but praise. Throughout this whole development up to the beginning of the current year, there was never disclosed any poisonous resentment of the profit, capital and democratic system as such. There never was revealed any impatience with Constitutional restraints.

On this very question of the wages-and-hours bill, the President's own draft was said to be an honest, straightforward two-page simplicity. This writer wouldn't know about that, except that, from intense experience, he knows Mr. Roosevelt's utter abhorrence of Cohenian subtleties in statutes. His almost reckless frankness in speeches should be proof enough of that.

But in the labyrinthine maze of Washington, there has always been a brilliant, if incriminated, sum of self-styled intelligentia. To them the Constitution is a musty and useless relic. Most of

First meeting at the "Little House" will be held Thursday, July 8, between 10 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. Special instructors are being asked to assist in the "camp" programs of which include hiking, handicraft work, dramatics, sketching, first aid instruction and singing. If a piano can be obtained, folk dancing will also be taught, according to Mrs. Dorothy Russick, member of the committee.

The girls who register for the "camp" will bring their lunches

Parachute Jump Saves Lives

Major Clarence Hodges, left, and Lieut. J. L. McNeil bailed out of their Army ship at 12,000 feet elevation near Ely, Nev., when they encountered storms and gasoline ran low. McNeil walked 56 miles to summon aid from an Indian reservation, while Major Hodges, slightly injured in the landing, stood guard over their wrecked plane.

and have regular noon luncheon parties at the "Little House," Mrs. Russick said.

Following the first program, July 8, "camp" parties will be held regularly on Tuesdays and Thursdays to the end of July. Last summer, in a six-day "Little House" program, 95 girls were registered and attended the "camps."

Members of the supervisory committee of the Girl Scouts council, in charge of this year's arrangements, include Mrs. Russick; Miss Nora Reid, Lathrop teacher and girls' advisor; Mrs. R. C. Harris, Mrs. A. W. Rutan, Mrs. John A. Henderson and Mrs. Nora McCalla.

Veteran Custodian At Santa Ana High School Decides To "Graduate" With '37 Group

Dad Feighner, who has been watching them come and go at Santa Ana high school for 29 years, finally has decided to "graduate" with the class of '37.

His resignation as head custodian was filed today with the board of education.

Dad was a freshman caretaker back in 1908, when the old Central school stood on the present site of the Y.M.C.A. Since then he has been friend, guide and counselor to the succeeding waves of youth that have poured through the halls and classrooms of Santa Ana high for nearly 30 years.

Becomes "Dad"

He has watched every building of the school system rise and fall, and followed the fortunes of Santa Ana high from the old Y.M.C.A. site to the red building on North Main, now junior college site, and then to its present location.

The Frank Feighner who has started as school custodian eventually became Dad Feighner, custodian of the problems and troubles of many a student. Over the years he has received many letters, cards and gifts from grateful grads who have gone to other fields, but remembered their pal and advisor.

Mrs. Feighner Aids
Dad Feighner was in reality a man of parts. Having graduated from Heidelberg college, Tiffin, Ohio, he became a teacher, as was Mrs. Feighner, who was matron of the high school for 18 years and herself a respected figure on the campus in her own right.

At heart, Dad Feighner always wanted to be a physician. This instinct to heal did find one outlet, in the form of a remedy of his own formula and manufacture. "Feighner's Magic Remedy" was sold from coast to coast, and until the death of his chemist five years ago, still was marketed in Michigan.

If at heart he was a healer, at soul he was a poet. At Poly high they often called him the janitor poet. He found time and inspiration to write more than 100 poems, some of them being printed from time to time in the Generator, school paper, and some being accepted by eastern papers. Several beautiful ballads also come from his pen. "The City of Gold," whose lyric was written by Prof. S. J. Mustel, has been sung at many occasions of sacred music.

Another, "The Twilight of Life" shortly will be published.

Plans To Rest
His artistic nature has not prevented him from being practical and industrious. His twilight of life will be spent in caring for his own apartment houses, store building and dwellings.

But first he will take a long rest, spending the rest of this year in the scenes of his childhood, in Detroit and Ohio. Upon his return he will make his home with his son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. O. A. Kelsey, 1015 West Fourth street.

The kindly old man, his eyes a bit moist and his voice none too steady, bid a typical farewell to his school associations, in announcing his retirement.

"May God's blessing rest upon the faculty and all those whom my life was privileged to touch during our years of association," he said.

Dad always considered it a privilege.

LIFE SAVING TO BE TAUGHT

Swimming and life saving instruction and recreational swimming will be offered by the Y.M.C.A. beginning Monday, Ralph C. Smedley, general secretary, announced today.

Instruction will begin at 9 a.m. Monday when boys assemble for the first swimming session. They will be divided according to size and ability and assigned to regular classes.

Girls will have their first session at 10:30 a.m. Lessons for both boys and girls will be conducted each Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning.

Smedley explained there is no age limit, and children can be enrolled quite young provided they stand 45 inches tall.

Life saving classes will be conducted on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. If there are enough candidates for this type of instruction, there will be separate classes for both boys and girls, otherwise they will be grouped in one.

Recreational swimming for boys will be scheduled for Monday and Thursday afternoons from two to four, while girls will take over the tank at the same hours on Tuesday and Friday.

Advance registrations for all of these classes indicate a large enrollment and Instructor D. H. Tibbals expects the usual capacity number who will take advantage of the work this summer.

DESK SERGEANT ON JOB AFTER JOURNEY

Desk Sergeant C. L. Neuschwanger of Santa Ana police was back in harness today after a two weeks vacation trip to Oregon and other northern points.

The sergeant and Mrs. Neuschwanger drove into Yosemite National park, en route north. Their itinerary took them to Portland, Bonneville dam, $42,000,000 government project on the Columbia river, Eugene, Crater lake, along the Redwood highway, over the Golden Gate bridge and down the Coast route to Santa Ana. As a final "fling," the couple went to San Diego Monday to visit friends.

The Neuschwangers found five feet of snow at Crater lake, with plenty of skiing and sledding. Sergeant Neuschwanger said: "Strange as it seems, I only heard a police siren at one place during the entire vacation and that was in San Francisco."

JUDGE 'SPANKS' WOMEN AFTER 'BOXING MATCH'

Two Santa Ana women who had a day of differences which included physical as well as verbal combat, over a crying baby, were today given verbal spankings by Judge Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court.

Mrs. Ruth Handley charged Mrs. D. J. Hill with disturbing the peace and assault and battery. Judge Morrison found her not guilty on both counts. "You both are at fault here, one as much as the other," Judge Morrison said. "You certainly should act like ladies, in front of children."

Says "Hands Off"

Mrs. Handley, whose husband was sentenced to jail here recently by Judge Morrison after he "beat up" a summons server, and Mrs. Hill were friends. They visited at the home of Ben Handley, Mrs. Handley's father-in-law, where Mrs. Handley's baby became the center of attraction. The baby began to cry.

Mrs. Hill, according to testimony, sought to pick up the baby. Mrs. Handley said, "Hands off!" and backed up her statement with some more vigorous words, according to Mrs. Hill.

Judge Speaks

A boxing match, without any prize, began at once, according to testimony, and in the scuffle, Mrs. Handley's glasses were broken.

Mrs. Handley said she wouldn't have filed a complaint if Mrs. Hill had agreed to pay for the glasses. Both women said the other had struck the first blow, but both assertedly admitted having used numerous expressive phrases not generally found in the dictionary. The judge said the phrases weren't "lady-like".

NAZI SITUATION DEPLORED BY POPE

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, June 16.—(UP)—The Pope, addressing more than 1000 pilgrims, including Germans and 24 newly ordained priests, expressed sorrow today over the "blind struggle" going on in Germany against the Catholic church.

The pope said he was most pleased to see the young priests returning to their homeland from Italy to spread the word of the gospel "at a moment when their true and valorous apostolate is needed, especially in a Germany where a blind battle is raging against God and the church of Christ."

Turning to the German pilgrims, the pope said:

Children Eager To See Birds In Pie After Attack

If the children who were attacked by black birds yesterday afternoon in front of 1624 West Third street, had their way about it, the black birds would be baked pie today.

Detective Sergeant Hunter Leach was called to investigate after Mrs. L. E. Brown, 1618 West Third, complained that the black birds were pecking at the children's eyes.

He found a nestling black bird on the ground beside a tree. It had fallen from its nest and the parent birds were practicing their usual custom of distracting the attention of passersby so they would not notice the little one.

Sergeant Leach said he wasn't "scared"—just "careful," and stood at a "safe" distance while conducting his investigation. He saw "Mama" Black Bird feed her fallen baby.

SUMMER CAMP TO OPEN SOON

Harrison White, Orange County Boy Scout executive, announced today that Camp Rokill will open Monday for the summer season.

Trucks will be at the corner of Third and Sycamore streets at 7:30 a. m. Monday to transport the first contingent to camp.

White said that there is abundant wild life in the mountains this year, due to the cold weather driving deer and other animals into the Santa Ana river basin. He said that bears have been seen in the vicinity of the camp for the first time in several years.

With Grayback blanketed by snow, plans have been outlined for snow sports, in addition to the regular summer sports, such as swimming at Jinks lake, horseback rides and hikes. White is advising the boys to take fishing tackle with them as excellent fishing has been reported.

The Scout organization is following a new system this year by opening the camp to all boys 11 years old or more, regardless of membership in the organization.

Officers from headquarters of the group who attended the dinner were: Majors George Sprado and M. O. Wiley and Capt. Phil Bomier. Constable Jesse Elliott also was a guest.

Vets To Picnic At Hindenburg Park

Santa Anans who served in the famous Ninety-First Division during the World War are planning to attend the annual family picnic of the organization to be held Sunday in Hindenburg Park, Los Angeles.

Frank J. Ryan, general chairman of the Ninety-First Division Association picnic committee, has announced that arrangements have been made to make this year's picnic the biggest get-together ever sponsored by the group. There will be free pony rides for the children, a merry-go-round, prizes, races, novelties and refreshments.

HUGE INJURY TOLL LAID TO LAW-BREAKING

Violation of the motor vehicle code is chiefly responsible for the yearly toll of 100,000 permanent injuries sustained in motor accidents in the country, stated D. H. Foster, field representative for the Automobile Club of Southern California, of Los Angeles, in an address to the Phi Sigma Tri Society at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Foster pointed out that the present day speed of automobiles has advanced beyond man's physical ability to control a car in a short distance and that a strict adherence to the code is the best method of reducing the number of accidents.

In proving his point Foster gave statistics to show that the average reaction time for a driver is three-quarters of a second and this fact, plus the time needed for the mechanical functions of stopping a car means that a car traveling at 40 miles per hour needs approximately a distance of 120 feet before it can be stopped. "And remember," he added, "a car going 40 has the same driving force it would have if dropped from a four-story building."

Courtesy on the road, common sense, and strict observance of the motor vehicle code were suggested by Foster for alleviation of most of our motoring evils.

A short business meeting before the lecture was presided over by Paul K. Alberts.

SANTA ANA WILL ATTEND CONCLAVE

John Allen Hall, 19, of 617 South Garney, selected by the American Legion, Post 131, Santa Ana, as the Santa Ana representative at the "Boys' State," a class in American government to be held in Sacramento June 19 to 27, will leave for the capital city following high school graduation exercises Friday.

The class, at which 600 boys will attend according to Hunter Leach, will study city, county, state and federal government methods, each boy to report his "findings" to other youths in his home city upon his return. The Legion will pay all expenses. The school quarters will be at the California Highway Patrol school headquarters in the fairgrounds.

Hall, who was an "official" of the police department on De Molay Day here, recently was responsible for apprehension of a man who admitted petty theft of clothing from parked automobiles.

Dog Poisoner Is Sought By Police

H. E. Jennings, 810 East Third yesterday told city police a dog belonging to Mrs. Alice Burrows, 819 East Second, was poisoned recently.

Investigation, according to Mrs. Burrows, revealed her dog died of strychnine poisoning. James Selley, 827 East Second, was interviewed by police officials, and explained he had put out some rat biscuits but no strychnine as he, himself, owns a dog.

Hotel Register Is Stolen Here

Adding insult to injury, a thief entered the Karo hotel, 807 East Fourth, early yesterday and stole the hotel register, Mrs. F. S. Roth, manager, told city police yesterday.

"Now, I haven't any record of who is stopping here," she said, "and I'll have to re-register everybody here." She said the stolen register was valued at $1.

Charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace at 706½ West Eighth street, at the home of his wife and baby, Ray Greathouse, 57, Long Beach, was jailed by Officers J. W. Greathouse persisted in his efforts to require his wife and baby to return to him, according to allegations of the complaint, signed by Mrs. Marie Gray, resident of the West Eighth street place.

GRAND JURY GETS FILM PARTY CASE

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—(UP)—Hollywood's notorious salesmen's "hazmow" party of May 5 reached the Los Angeles county grand jury today with at least one of Patricia Douglas' girl companions saying she saw nothing indecent at the frolic at which the Douglas girl alleged she was beaten and attacked.

In a crowd of film extras outside the grand jury room waiting to testify was Grace Downs, 22, attractive blonde, of Hollywood, who readily admitted she was at the party, knew what kind of an affair it was when she went and sat at a table with Miss Douglas, whose real name is Dorothy Shellenberger.

Neither Miss Douglas, nor Dave Ross, film salesman of Chicago, whose photograph she identified as that of her attacker, were present.

"There was a great deal of drinking—but I did not observe any of the men making any improper advances to the girls," Grace Downs said.

The same grouping and awards will be made for entries builded on floats.

Many Chambers of Commerce and other civic and social units throughout the southland are being invited, it was stated, and it is expected that the 1937 Tournament will exceed any effort made before. Volume of light, elaborateness, beauty and originality will be the four points of excellence upon which awards will be based.

STATE SRA MEASURE DECLARED ILLEGAL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 16.—(UP)—Administration plans to combine the SRA and the state department of social welfare into one governmental unit received a setback today when Attorney General U. S. Webb informed Gov. Frank F. Merriam a legislative bill accomplishing the consolidation is unconstitutional.

The attorney general said the relief administration was established through a constitutional amendment and thus could not be abolished or otherwise reorganized through legislative action. A vote of the people would be necessary to effect the changes contemplated under the measure, he ruled.

The governor said it was his understanding another bill which he signed yesterday—assembly bill 1879—would not be affected. This measure provides for reorganization of the social welfare department.

REFINERY CLOSED WHEN GIRLS FAINT

LILLE, France, June 16.—(UP)—The Thumeries sugar refinery was closed today because girl workers had become too good at mass swooning.

Seventy fainted yesterday while a physician was attempting to tell how to avoid hysteria. Last week 200 girls, ranging in age from 16 to 20, fell to the floor.

Company officials decided to close the plant until doctors decide on the source of the trouble. "I felt a wave rise through my body into my throat," said Jeanne Dubuet, 16, one of the swooners. "I was completely terrified and couldn't help screaming until I had fainted."

POLICE HUNT THIEF AFTER AUTO MISHAP

Police today were hunting a thief who speeded a stolen car along Memory Lane early yesterday, crossed Flower street, and smashed into a curbing, damaging the property of C. W. Houghtaling, 2727 North Flower. The car rolled and slid 120 feet before stopping, officers said.

Apparently uninjured, the man in the car jumped out and ran from the neighborhood before anyone arrived at the scene. Checkup showed the car was stolen from M. M. Devine, Fullerton, who arrived here from Nebraska, Monday.

A pair of brass knuckles, sometimes used by highway robbers, was found in the car. Letters found in the car, also were confiscated. Detective Lieutenant Charles Wolford said the car had been stolen from Los Angeles.

TEACHER SUES SCHOOL BOARD AT FULLERTON

Charging the Fullerton high school and junior college board with executing a subterfuge by electing her a teacher in the name of the junior college instead of the high school, so she could not establish tenure, H. Ina Gerritt, instructor in foods, filed suit in superior court late yesterday for a writ of mandate against the board. She seeks recognition as a permanent teacher and the salary attached to such position.

The teacher brought action as a result of being notified by the school board June 9 that she would be released. Attorneys Forgy, Reinhaus and Forgy, of Santa Ana, represent her.

Tells Rating

Claiming that during the four years she has been employed in the Fullerton schools, four-fifths of her time has been spent teaching in the high school. But because the junior college lacks the 850 average daily attendance which would enable the teachers to gain permanent rating under the state tenure law, the board employed her in the name of the junior college, she claims. This, she charges, was done as a subterfuge, to evade the tenure law.

She has been receiving $2500 per year for the last two years, she set forth in her complaint. County school directories list her as a teacher in both the high school and junior college.

Yungbluth Men's Furnishings and city councilman.

NAVIGATION ON NEW SCHEDULE AT Y. M. HERE

Boat builders and sailors who are learning to operate vessels on Balboa Bay will have an opportunity of earning navigation in a class organized by the Y.M.C.A. under the supervision of Hubert Kidder.

The new class will begin work next Wednesday, Ralph C. Smedley, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. announced. Kidder conducted a similar class last year and has had considerable experience in navigation and teaching.

"This summer recreation class is offered by the Y.M.C.A. without a tuition charge," Smedley said. The class is open to both men and women.

"Whether you plan a trip to the South Seas or just a fishing trip," Kidder says, "you will find this course helpful and enjoyable. If you are building a boat or planning to build one, this will prepare you to use it to best advantage."

The class will be organized June 23 at 7:30 p.m. All interested are invited.

HAY CROPS ESCAPE EXTENSIVE DAMAGE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 16.—(UP)—Damage to hay and grain crops of the Sacramento valley caused by rain during the past 24 hours was not expected to prove extensive unless inclement weather continues for several days, agriculture department officials said today.

The storm was general over the valley and mountain districts east and north of here. Heaviest rainfall was reported from Kennett, 1.84 inches being recorded. Redding reported 1.76 and Red Bluff 1.20, while 1.8 of an inch was registered at Sacramento.

Officers Elected By County Nurses

Phoebe Clark was elected president of the Orange County General Hospital School of Nursing, yesterday, at a business meeting which included a social hour with refreshments.

Other officers, elected for the year, 1937-38, include Leola Watkins, vice-president; Beatrice Longshore, treasurer, and Elizabeth Hassell, secretary.

The school's student body and advisors joined in the social hour occasion. Plans for a beach party, to be held soon, were made.

Guard Loyal Workers in Buffalo

Workers at the Buffalo plant of the Republic Steel Corp. who refused to join the most far-reaching steel strike since 1919, went to work under the watchful eyes of the law, as shown in this picture with three policemen guarding the door. Some of Republic's score or more plants were operating at least partially, although many of the workmen had joined the strike demanding a C. I. O. contract.

No Rest For Weary Bear On State Seal

SACRAMENTO, June 16.—(UP)—The weary bear on the great seal of the state of California is in for an ordeal. Hereafter, it is going to stand up all of the time—on all of the state's official seals.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam signed a legislative bill decreeing this change. The legislature passed the bill after it was pointed out that the bear heretofore has been sitting, lying and standing on various seals.

Refiners are now using copper for sweetening the smell of gas. But copper kills the smell, but does not detract from the power of the gas.

The Santa Ana group has arranged for the rally to be held in the auditorium of Frances Willard Junior High school.

Dale said a radio receiving set will be installed and a broadcast of the championship fight will precede the rally program.

The principal topic for the rally will be planning for united party action in the state election. Dale said yesterday that an outstanding speaker, who will be announced later, will lead the discussion with a talk on "California's Need for a Democratic Government."

In addition to the speaker and the fight broadcast a musical program featuring John Stout, violinist from Orange, and Stanley Kurtz, of El Modena, in a group of vocal solos, will be presented. The entertainment is being arranged by Joe Peterson.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES MARK GRADUATION OF H. S. STUDENTS

ORANGE, June 16.—Graduation exercises last night for Orange Union High school class of '37 were adjudged by many to be the most impressive ever held at the school. Commencement was held on the athletic field before a large audience of friends and relatives gathered in the new stadium.

As the onlookers began to fill the stand, Harold Larsen, a member of the class, played preliminary organ music from the main auditorium, broadcasting from the public address system. Then the seniors entered the field through a long lane of American flags, held by members of the junior class. The march was played on the organ by Percy Green, Music teacher at the school.

The Rev. William Holder, pastor of the Christian church delivered the invocation, after which Llewellyn Williams sang "Stout Hearted Men" accompanied at the piano by Dale Curry. The commencement address was given by Dr. Walter F. Dexter, state superintendent of Public Instruction, who spoke on "By What Standards Shall We Measure Success."

After the address, a double quartet, composed of graduating seniors, sang a number. They were: Phyllis Kogler, Dorothy Franke, Helen Talber, Stella Christ, Harold Welch, Norman Dews, Adolph Lemke, and Anzac Jacobs. Howard Bonebrake, class president, presented the class gift, a field telephone system to be used in connection with the score board, and $50 for the student loan fund.

L. W. Evans, retiring president of the Orange High School Board of Education, presented the diplomas for the last time in 11 years. Evans has been a member of the board for 13 years and its president for 11 years.

Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Holder.

It Seems To Me

by HEYWOOD BROWN

Things in America are moving with great rapidity. When I started on a short vacation National Tomato Week was just drawing to a close and National Cotton Week had not yet begun. And now I suppose the Annual Spinach Festival is just around the corner.

Since the tide of important events is raging perhaps we must expect to find a certain confusion among our great men and thinkers. Specifically it seems to me there is a lack of discipline among the spokesmen for the conservative interests. There may have been blunders.

I am wondering, for instance, whether the recent candor of Al Smith, the traveling man, may not be embarrassing to his old associates in the Liberty League. Possibly they will not object to the fact that Al described Mussolini as a gentleman of charm and humor who would be known in this country as a "Regular Guy" but they may feel that he was indiscreet in going farther.

In dealing with the personality of a foreign potentate, Mr. Smith has the privilege of expressing his personal opinion. But in his own report of the conversation I think that many Americans will feel that this unofficial ambassador of good will went much too far in expressing to Mussolini a favorable opinion of Fascism and a hostile criticism of American democracy.

Al might explain that his condemnation was limited to the New Deal. But the walk grows bolder. After all the New Deal represents the choice of a large majority of the American people. From now on it may be well that Al Smith is a private citizen and nothing more. Nevertheless, in Italy there was probably a realization that here

Popular Orange Couple United at Church Rites

ORANGE, June 16.—The romance of a very popular Orange couple reached its culmination at the altar last night, when Miss Caryl Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Harper of River street, Orange, married Archie Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams, West Maple street, Orange.

The marriage took place in the Orange Presbyterian church with its pastor, Dr. Robert Burns McAdley, officiating. The church was beautifully decorated with white delphinium and pink larkspur and lighted with cathedral tapers which were lighted by the ushers just before the bride party entered the church. The bride wore a train length gown of white lace, cut in princess style, and carried a bouquet of white roses with a shower of white sweet peas. Her matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Rol d Ewing, of Atascadero. She was gowned in green net, with a bouquet of pink sweetpeas and blue delphinium. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Wayne Davis, another sister of the bride, in blue net with a mixed bouquet of harmonizing flowers, and Miss Agnes Adams, sister of the groom, with a peach net gown and a bouquet like Mrs. Davis. Two other fair members of the bride party were Little Barbara Jean MacAuley, daughter of the pastor, and Alyce Wood. Barbara wore peach taffeta and Alyce wore gold taffeta.

Mr. Harper gave his daughter in marriage. Best man was Loren Housley and ushers were Dick Wichman, Roland Ewing, William Snodgrass and Oscar Schultz.

Mrs. Davis sang two numbers before the ceremony. They were: "Love You Truly" and "At Dawning." She was accompanied at the organ by Miss Eldene Watson, who also played the wedding marches. During the actual ceremony "Love's Old Sweet Song" was played on a muted violin by Miss Virginia Wilber, who also played during the reception, which was held in another auditorium of the church after the ceremony.

Mrs. Judith Payne and Mrs. F. M. Gulick presided at the coffee urns after the new Mrs. Adams had cut a large wedding cake made especially for her by her friend Miss Laura Rice. Miss Rice and the Misses Eileen McCallum, Henrietta Settle, Lila Elbertson and Jeanne Kirkpatrick assisted in serving the 250 reception guests.

Later in the evening the couple left for their new country home near Weir, Kans. Mr. Adams received his education in that state, and Mrs. Adams was educated in California. She is a graduate of Orange union high school, Santa Ana Junior college, and Santa Barbara State Teacher's college. She has been employed as a teacher in the Villa Park grammar school

CLUB SECTION IN FINAL MEET OF YEAR

ORANGE, June 16.—Mrs. George Selha, of Tustin avenue, Orange was the hostess to the last meeting of the Third Economic Section of the Orange Woman's club yesterday. Installation of new officers for the coming year of 1937-1938 was held after a delightful steakhouse, held in the garden.

The Selha home. The steaks were broiled around an outside grill and eaten at a long table which was colorfully laid in Spanish pottery. There members were introduced to three guests: Mrs. Ralph William Shannon and Mrs. L. Froster, of Orange, and Mrs. Edwin F. Gould, of Villa Park.

Short, president, Mrs. Rex Shannon, vice-president, Mrs. E. I. Pratt, secretary, and Mrs. D. V. Rothenberger, treasurer. Annual Picnic Held In Honor of J. J. Zielian

TUSTIN, June 16.—Approximately 300 persons attended the annual picnic, honoring John J. Zielian, pioneer school man, held recently at Irvine park. The former students, together with their families, made up the crowd which greeted their guest of honor, who headed the Tustin schools from 1881 to 1897.

A bountiful picnic dinner was enjoyed at noon but no set program had been arranged. Greetings were brought to the honored guest from many towns in Southern California to which his former pupils have moved. Among those attending from out of this county, were Nelson Holderman, of Napa, and his family, and Judge Charles Ballard of Los Angeles. This year's reunion was a repetition of those events which have been held each spring for the past 16 years.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CORAL CRANDALL, heroine and senior at Elton College.
DAVID ALMSTRONG, Elton chemistry professor and Coral's husband.
JOHN ALLEN, Coral's sorority roommate.
HOYT MARQUIS, Coral's one-time fiance.

Yesterday Hoyt comes to Elton, dates Donna while Coral is busy, and to Coral's keen surprise visits the Chemistry building with Donna.

CHAPTER VII
IN the hurry and bustle which swept over the sorority house as the girls dressed for dinner and the prom, Coral forgot about her curiosity concerning the visit Hoyt and Donna had made to the chemistry building. Her mind was centered on a more immediate question.

If David was at the dance . . . and she felt sure he would be . . . would he carry on this quarrel of theirs? Deep in her heart she hoped that somehow tonight she could get a word with him, tell him she was sorry for what had happened. Perhaps then he would forget his grievance. Yet it would be difficult with Hoyt there. If David really believed she cared for Hoyt, he would not interfere, not even ask her to dance. But he couldn't believe that, not after what had been between them.

"I wish I knew what to do," she said to herself. "I'm miserable, and so is David. I know he is! Why are we going on this way?" If only she hadn't given in to her parents, if only she hadn't asked Hoyt to the prom. Sometimes she felt that David had been right, that she had been cowardly and weak to give in to her mother's demand. But even that knowledge did not tell her what she should have done, how she could have averted the situation.

HER reverie was cut short by a voice outside the door. "Your date's here, Coral," a girl's voice said.

Coral fastened the catch of the long blue velvet evening cape, examined the hem of her silver dress to make sure it hung evenly, picked up bag and gloves and went down stairs to meet Hoyt. His eyes lit up at the sight of her.

"Whew! You take my breath away. You're very gorgeous to-night, sweetheart."

She winced involuntarily at his last word. If only Hoyt wouldn't take things so much for granted. But she smiled and returned his greeting. "You look very handsome yourself."

As they walked to his car, Hoyt said, "I've made reservations for dinner at the Crossroads Tavern, outside of town. Not knowing the neighborhood I asked Donna for a tip this afternoon and she recommended this place. It's apparently the only spot for miles where a fellow can get not only food but something besides water for his burning thirst. Is that all right with you?"

Coral hesitated. She had never been to the Crossroads Tavern in all her four years at Elton.

"How come? Is there anything wrong with the place?" he asked.

"Not really. But there was some scandal or other about it two or three years ago. It's a little on the wild side, I guess."

"All the better. Saving your ladyship's presence, college dances are likely to be a little dull. If I get a good start maybe we can put some life into the prom."

CORAL's voice was still doubtful. "I don't suppose you could cancel your reservations, could you?"

Hoyt laughed. "Oh, Coral, what's the matter? I don't know a thing about the place, but I'd be willing to bet that there's nothing or nobody there to hurt you. Let's find out, anyway. Come on!"

"I'm silly I know," Coral smiled and added, "You're probably right. Let's be off!"

They climbed into Hoyt's big black sedan and drove off through the twilight. The ride to the Crossroads Tavern was a tamer reproduction of the ride home from the country club a few weeks before. Coral kept silence as long as she could, but when they missed hitting a truck at an intersection by nothing more or less than a miracle, she cried out involuntarily.

"Say, you really are scared, aren't you?" Hoyt said in surprise. "That's no way for you to feel. The only fun there is in driving is in driving fast. I'll show you what I mean." He pressed his foot down on the accelerator and the car leaped ahead. Coral cowered in her corner of the front seat and shut her eyes as houses, telephone poles and other automobiles sped past with dizzying rapidity. When at last the car came to a stop in front of the Tavern, she opened her eyes, her face white, her hands shaking. Without a word she opened the door and got out of the automobile.

SHE walked wordlessly toward the entrance of the Tavern,

Colton Quits After 16-1 Rout

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 16.—After a climb that started in the cellar, the Chicago Cubs held the undisputed leadership of the National League today.

The Cubs got off to a bad start. But on May 27 they had won 16 and lost 16 for a .500 average. The next day they started one of their notorious streaks, winning eight in a row. They swept through the east, winning eight out of 11. Of their last 18 games, they've won 15.

The Cubs bounded into the lead by defeating the Boston Bees, 5-4. The Bees, knocked their old jinx, "Tex" Carleton, out of the box in the fourth inning and wiped out a 3-0 deficit with a four run rally.

But Clay Bryant came to the rescue and baffled the Bostonians. He allowed only one hit in five innings, scoring his fifth straight victory.

Carl Hubbell failed to finish his fifth consecutive game as Pittsburgh triumphed over New York 7-5, knocking the Giants out of first place. Three singles in a row after two were out in the second inning drove Hubbell to cover.

The Cardinals scored their seventh straight victory over the Phillies 13-4. Cincinnati stayed off a ninth inning rally by Brooklyn to beat the Dodgers, 4-3.

"Red" Huffer won his sixth victory and pitched his second straight shutout as the New York Yankees won from Cleveland, 3-0. After blowing an 8-1 lead in the ninth, Detroit went 15 innings before beating Washington, 8-8.

The victory put the Tigers into second place, a game behind the Yankees as the White Sox bowed to the Red Sox, 1-5. The St. Louis Browns scored four runs in the ninth to beat the Athletics, 5-1, on Elton Hoesett's 6-hit pitching.

Braddock Double Champion

Jim Gets 'Killer Instinct' At Dinner Bell Too

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

GRAND BEACH, Mich., June 16.—Six days from now James Walcott Braddock will defend his world's heavyweight championship against Joe (Dark Angel, Brown Bomber, Mulatto, Mauler, Sepia Slugger, Black Lightning) Louis in Comiskey park, Chicago.

As the unofficial ear to the ground for 100,000,000 people, I came here to study the champion and make a thorough report on his condition, his chances of retaining his prize, his highest honor, the diadem to which men dedicate their lives and the fatty tissues of their ears.

I have been here two days and I have as little to report as any man who ever went anywhere to report anything. Unfortunately for my trusting readers, there is a golf course within reach of James Walcott's training quarters. As an old boy scout the first thing I learned was to keep my body sound and have every tendon bowed in case of an emergency. So Braddock's body immediately became of secondary importance.

I went out on that golf course and started building up my own health, leaving Braddock to look after himself without my aid. After all, my job was much more difficult than his when it came to body building, for he weighs 195 pounds raw and I scale a bare 125 in a diving belt. His reflexes are one over two multiplied by three with a quotient of six, and mine are as slow as a drone bee with blinkers.

He hasn't had a headache in two years and I haven't had anything else in the same length of time. The pupils of his eyes are as big as new moons on the Wabash, and as far as my pupils are concerned school has been out since early May.

His muscles are elastic, and his hand is steady. My muscles are as bound as Montana, and my hand shakes after the manner of a out.

That's a bit complicated. Let's stop right here and think it all out.

By EDDIE WEST

Discouraged by a terrific 16-1 lacing from the hit-crazed Santa Ana Stars, Manager Hubert Finlay today announced the withdrawal of Colton's Reds from the National Night Ball League.

"It no longer is possible for us to carry on," said Finlay, who doubles in brass as justice of the peace at the inland city. "We are through. Four of my players turned in their uniforms after last night's shellacking."

President Walter Wentz conferred with Finlay by phone and urged the Colton manager to hang on, at least until the completion of the first-half June 25. Wentz said he would make a trip to Colton tonight to contact again the leader of the demoralized Reds.

The cuffed handed Colton was enough to make any manager sad. Stilled by "Chico" Sabella last week, Santa Ana bats rumbled ominously at the tiny railroad center. The first seven batters in the first inning hit safely off Phil Wire, Colton's gunner who within the past ten days had waten Huntington Beach and carried Anaheim 12 in-ings. Denney, Smith, Comstock, Coats, Young, Nix and Koral, one after another, drove out basehits. Aided by an erratic throw-in from the outfield, Santa Ana rolled up six runs before a man had been retired. A double play finally ended the inning.

The Stars kept pouring it on little Wire, making one run in the third, two in the fifth and four more in the sixth. Finlay finally yanked Wire, and Setser, an outfielder, came into the box. He was nicked for the last three runs when "Nan" Coats blazed a double over third with the bases full.

The struggle was so uneven Manager "Doc" Smith finally took out Earl Morrill, pitching himself and placing Morrill at second base. Only run off Morrill arrived in the sixth. Johnston singled. Brown forced him and scored on Comstock's error on Weiser's grounder and Bramlett's hit.

Comstock played a superb defensive game, coming up with 11 chances, some difficult. . . . Denney, Smith and Nix got for hits. Nix's came in rotation. . . . Santa Ana meets Anaheim at the Bowl Friday.

Taking advantage of Orange's shattered infield combination San Bernardino kept a strange hold on third place with a 9 to 1 victory.

Walter (Sonny) Leichtfuss, star shortstop, was unable to make the trip to San Bernardino as he received his sheepskin at Fullerton junior college.

Five hits, a walk and a pair of costly errors gave the Ponies six of their nine runs in the opening inning.

Sport Nuggets

by John Neubauer

AS MASSIVE Arthur L. Nunn of Fullerton Junior colleg will tell you, fishing is an art. An art that cannot be acquired overnight. This he demonstrated to his championship team Saturday.

And in Mexican waters. Twenty of the 27 men who were on the chartered boat didn't interest them in the least as they were seeking deck space to lie down on.

And the seven didn't either. They couldn't, because there wasn't enough deck space for them to step around after getting a nib to play a yellow tail.

It takes a little deck space THE FISHING party wasn't much of a success, because the deck space was needed for those landlubbers. There wasn't any room for fish.

Only six were caught. And that may not be a record catch, but it did establish some kind of a mark for 27 sportsmen who had promised to divide the spoils among their friends and relatives.

Nunn came home empty handed! And after he boasted about his ability to win the jack pot by pulling in the biggest fish, "There are few times, indeed," he said, "That I don't win the pot. I've just as good as won already!" That was before the trip.

ROY PRIEBE who rules the Yellowjacket football destiny, would never make a sailor. One of the first to feel the effects of the his mouth and dashed for a com- sea, Priebe clamped his hand to partment marked "Men."

He was a sick man, indeed! "When I returned, I couldn't find the place on the deck that I had occupied. Someone else was lying there then. I was sick," he said as he explained his novel experience.

"I didn't care about fish." "When I felt the urge to 'feed the fish' again, I just lay there. I didn't even want to waste any energy turning over."

PRIEBE might not have said it, but he was sicker than he was last fall when his football team failed to materialize after Blocker Johnson broke his leg. . . .

Bus DeVolder, the pitcher, was sick, too.

The southpaw gunner was to have tought for the Fullerton semi-pros before going east, but old terra firma was still heaving to and fro the next day. He didn't think he could make it.

Louis E. Plummer was calm. The smiling, suave Fullerton high school and junior college principal, maintained the dignity of an educator—he weathered the giant swells—and pulled in one of the six fish.

NUNN HAS the prize story to tell about the adventure—about the giant yellowtail that got away. Since a fish story is generally interpreted as fiction, nobody will believe him.

Not even "Shorty" Smith, his pal. Smith is one of the few coaches in the North end of the county who has no hankering for deep sea fishing. Only once has Nunn been able to talk him into a boat. That was last spring at El Guato, Mexico.

Was "Shorty" scared? He stood on the bow of the boat, holding for dear life to a rope attached to the mast, and catching all the salt air possible. But he had the time of his life kidding other members of the expedition, particularly Coach Stan Gould, who got sick.

"Why, it's a crime, the way they boost the price to take you fishing on those boats down there," Nunn complained. "When they raise the price a dollar, it becomes prohibitive."

Nunn and the Fullerton fishermen will not drive down to San Diego often this summer just on account of the additional tariff placed on the sport. Instead, they will talk about this expedition all summer.

BOMBER TRIES FOR QUICK K.O. NEXT TUESDAY

By STEVE SNIDER

KENOSHA, Wis., June 16.—Convinced no fighter in the world can match Joe Louis for speed, the Bomber's board of strategy decided today to stake everything on a quick knockout of Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock next Tuesday night.

With Braddock thus dismissed, they went into a huddle with Louis over a report that he is tired of

LOUIS 2-1 CHOICE
NEW YORK, June 16.—Joe Louis is an odds-on favorite at 2-1 to win the heavy-weight championship from Jim Braddock in their fight in Chicago next Tuesday, according to opening prices announced today by Jack Doyle, Broadway betting commissioner.

The Braddock price is 5-2.

boxing and plans to quit the ring after squaring accounts with Max Schmeling, the relentless German who bounced him on the floor last June.

Neither Julian Black nor John Roxborough, the challenger's co-managers, would comment on the retirement report.

Louis, whose listless drills for three weeks indicated his heart wasn't in his work, was said to be ready to retire now except that his handers would rather have the glory of a championship than the victor's share of a purse.

"Louis is the fastest punching heavyweight I've ever seen or likely will see again," said Black. "We figure he'll outspeed Braddock so badly he won't need all that defense we've been teaching him in camp."

Four years in the ring brought Louis enough wealth and security to last a lifetime. If he were to quit—with 171-2 per cent of an anticipated million-dollar gate for the Braddock bout and the champion's share of a Schmeling fight in case he defeated Braddock—he would have an income of more than $10,000 a year.

CAMP FOLLOWERS WORRY ABOUT BRADDOCK
"GRAND BEACH, Mich., June 16.—Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock rested today while camp followers pondered the sudden turn for the worse in his training for a 15-round title bout against Joe Louis.

Braddock, who boxed himself into perfect physical condition in his long weeks at Grand Beach, finished his second prep drill in a row yesterday. He worked four unimpressive rounds with Max Roesh, Henry Cooper, Charley Massera and Jack McCarthy.

18 TROJANS TO ENTER N. C. A. A.

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—Hoping to successfully defend their N.C.A.A. championship this weekend, 18 University of Southern California track and field athletes entrain tomorrow for Berkeley.

Last season S.C. tallied 103 1/3 points to win the largest number ever made in the meet's history.

Dean Cromwell's men face a stiff fight for the team crown from Stanford, Michigan, Indiana and Pittsburgh. Troy's principal point winners are expected to be Adrian Talley, 100; Ross Bush, 880; Roy Staley, high hurdles; Earle Meadows and Bill Sefton, pole vault, and Delos Thurber, high jump. All but Talley and Bush were members of the Olympic team last summer.

The PAYOFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)

Max Baer, clown among heavyweights and heavyweights among clowns, is taken seriously in England.

This is surprising even in a country where the circuit court of appeals lets Jim Braddock get away with a deliberate runout on Max Schmeling for want of an enforceable negative covenant, and please pass the salami.

Yet England is the land that turned out Joe Beckett and Phil Scott and where the retirement threat of Jack Doyle, who carries out all the fine old traditions of the British ring, elicits comment. For some reason that would seem strange, were not Madison Square Garden associated with it, Baer is sought for a joust with Bob Pastor, an affair which fell through last winter when the New York Boxing commission wisely refused the Butterfly Butcher Boy a license.

It therefore is good news that Baer is likely to grace the British Isles with his presence for some considerable time, gathering in the pounds, shillings, and pence while the gathering is better than it was for him in Dollar-Land after he bumped into Joe Louis.

After his poor showing against Tommy Farr, it would have seemed that the British press and public would have soured on Baer.

Not a bit of it. He was matched almost immediately with Ben Ford of South Africa.

In the Ford fight, Baer appeared to be the old Baer—both the clown and the puncher.

SAME OLD BAER

"There was little real boxing and less footwork," writes Milton Bronner, NEA Service staff correspondent and man-about-London.

In fact, if Ford had all the grace and agility of an ice wagon, Baer tripped the light fantastic like a beer truck.

"The Californian pulled all the old stuff Americans got tired of. He played."

"He gave his mile-wide grin."

"He stopped dead to pull up his shorts."

"He pretended to be on the verge of swooning when occasional Ford penetrated his guard, which incidentally was as wide open as the Atlantic."

"He cried 'woof-woof' at the struggling South African. "And then, when he got tired of this fun, he punched with something of the fury which brought down Schmeling and Primo Carnera."

"He won on a technical knock-out in the ninth round."

"There was little reason why he should not have done it in the third."

The following day, if Baer took an early morning walk around London, he must have been pleasantly surprised.

He, whose stock has become rather cheap on this side, saw his name dominating newspaper stories.

Headlines read:

"Baer Comes Back."

"Baer Sees a Ghost."

"Baer's Great Victory."

WHERE HE BELONGS

Trevor Wignall, one of the best known British sports writers, bubbled: "We saw something of the real fighting Baer and also of Baer, the fistic clown, but the moment I shall always recall was that when he dropped to his knees and tenderly pillowed Ford's head on his arm."

Wignall went on to explain that Baer had seen a ghost—the wraith of his knockout of Ford, Baer has been offered a big role in a film to be made on the other side.

A chance to shine in a cabaret, and the opportunity of being mine host in a new London restaurant, which, if it materialized, would be on the line of the New York establishment, where Jack Dempsey is at home to friends and admirers.

The British haven't yet had a full load of Baer, but at this early date it is plain that they suspect that he belongs in show business, where he can't miss.

Maxie Adelbert certainly made a show of himself here.

WOODRUFF IS N. C. A. A. STAR

PITT RUNNER AFTER DOUBLE WIN SATURDAY

BERKELEY, June 16.—John Woodruff, Pittsburgh university's Olympic 800-meter champion stood out today as the greatest runner of a field of 500 athletes gathered for the National Collegiate Athletic association track and field championships Friday and Saturday.

"He's the super runner of the age," said Don Seaton of Illinois as he watched the tall Negro shuffle along with an angular unorthodox gait on Edwards field.

"Woodruff's stride is almost twice as long as any man I have seen," said Coach Brutus Hamilton of California. "He shuffles like an ostrich, all over the track at once. He runs twice as far as anybody else with each step."

Speed and Endurance Both
A group of the nation's leading track coaches gathered to look over Woodruff who possesses the explosive speed of Jesse Owens combined with the endurance of a Cunniffman.

Woodruff was picked to win both the 440 and the 880 in the N. C. A. A. Charley Beetham of Ohio State, Ross Bush of U. S. C., Vic Palmason, University of Washington, and Dave Rogan, University of Kentucky will press him and step the time up in the 880. The time should be under 1:52.

In the 440, there was not another man in the field who has cracked 47 seconds as has Woodruff. Loren Benke of Washington State has come the closest with a 47.1 against Oregon.

Always a colorful race, the high hurdles in this N. C. A. A. meet will have the added advantage of bringing together Forrest Towns, of Georgia, Olympic champion, and his arch rival, Robert Osgood of Michigan.

Towns Wins 34 in Row

Towns has behind him the almost unbelievable feat of winning 34 hurdle races in a row. His fastest time of the season was made at the Southeast conference meet where he was clocked at 14.3 seconds.

Towns arrived yesterday and sprinted a few laps around the oval before sports scribes. Some of them had watched him compete in the high hurdles and equal the meet mark at 14.1 seconds at Stagg field, Chicago, in 1936.

Bob Osgood signed the register with the rest of the Michigan team a short time after Towns.

Other stellar early arrivals included Bob Packard and Maurice Green of Georgia Tech, Harry Waugh and George Kohl, of Tulane; Eulace Peacock of Temple, Charley Beetham, Mel Albritton and Bob Walker of Ohio State, Bob Feiler of Drake, Rice of Notre Dame and Halvor of Chicago.

Few Records Safe

These athletes came with the hope of cracking records in the premier college meet of the country. From a check of their performances in early season meets, it is evident that few of the 14 meet records up for attack are safe.

Nine NCAA record holders are defending their laurels in the meet. Twelve Olympic champions have their positions to uphold.

Topping the list of world records expected to go into the discard is the pole vault mark. Bill Sefton and Earl Meadows of U. S. C. have been extended the honor of a special standard constructed to enable them to attempt to raise the record above 15 feet. They now hold the N. C. A. A. mark at 14 feet 13.4 inches and the world record of 14:11 set two weeks ago.

Fifty Per Cent Of Louis Fight 'Gate' To Fix Braddock For Life

NOTHING PHONEY ABOUT THE COMEBACK THAT PLACED JIM BRADDOCK WHERE HE IS TODAY. THIS IRISHMAN ACTUALLY IS BACK FROM THE BOXING BONEYARD. HUNGRY ON RELIEF—THROUGH—JERSEY JIM STRUGGLED FROM THE FLOOR TO KAYO CORN GRIFIN. IT WAS AN OBSCURE PRELIMINARY, BUT IT LIFTED THE GAUNT MAN FROM THE WEEHAWKEN WHARVES TO THE BIG TIME.

MAX BAER WAS BEATEN WHEN BRADDOCK STRUCK BACK AFTER TAKING THE BUTTERFLY BUTCHER BOY'S BEST SHOTS.

LACKING THE PRICE OF HAVING HIS RIGHT HAND REBROKEN AND SET, BRADDOCK DELIBERATELY REBROKE IT WITH HIS FIRST PUNCH AT PAUL SWIDERSKI'S HEAD, AND TOOK A 10-ROUND DECISION WITH ONE GOOD FIST.

APPARENTLY FINISHED AS A FIGHTER, SHELVED BY A BUSTED RIGHT HAND, AND WITH A FAMILY TO FEED, BRADDOCK TURNED TO THE JERSEY DOCKS.

HE HAD TO USE HIS LEFT HAND, AND DEVELOPED IT BY WIELDING A LONGSHOREMAN'S HOOK IN UNLOADING RAILROAD TIES FROM LIGHTERS.

BRITAIN SEEKS SCHMELING TO BOX TOM FARR

LONDON, June 16.—Europe may have its own "world heavyweight" title fight if plans to match Max Schmeling of Germany with Tommy Farr, British and empire titleholder, materialize.

Schmeling, recognized in Germany as champion because of Jim Braddock's defeat June 2, told the United Press:

"I might be willing to fight Farr. He is a good man. But it all depends on what happens next September, because I hope to fight the winner of the Braddock-Joe Louis bout then."

Farr last night increased his prestige when he knocked out the German, Walter Neusel, in the third round of their scheduled 12-round fight at Harringway arena. Neusel took the count sitting down despite frantic appeals by his seconds for him to get up. He rose after "10" and claimed recurrence of an old knee injury.

PAR-agraphs

BY ART KRENZ
(NEA Service Golf Writer)

In a Ryder Cup match against Tony Torrence in Columbus, O., Gene Sarazen drove his tee shot into a hot dog stand to the left of a par three 11th.

The Connecticut farmer found his ball on the concrete floor among pop bottle cases.

Sarazen moved the cases and pitched the ball through the serving window onto the green, and won the hole.

The left hand is the guiding factor of the swing.

When the right hand overpowers it in the backswing or at the start of the downswing, the clubhead cannot be kept along the line of flight.

It turns in sharply toward the left, cutting across the ball from the outside in, and sending the ball spinning to the right.

Let the left hand and arm dominate the backswing and the start of the downswing.

BUDGE NO. 1 AT WIMBLEDON

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 16.—Don Budge, No. 1 in United States rankings, was seeded first in the draw for the all-England tennis championships, the tournament committee announced today.

Helen Jacobs, who will defend the title, was seeded first in the women's division.

Thus Californians are ranked atop both men's and women's lists in this, the unofficial "world's championship" tennis tourney.

Other seedings:

Men's—2, Baron Gottfried Von Cramm, Germany; 3, Henner Henkel, Germany; 4, Henry Winfred (Bunny) Austin, England; 5, Rod-erick Menzel, Czechoslovakia; 6, Bryan Grant, Atlanta; 7, Vivian McGrath, Australia; 8, Frank Parker, Spring Lake, N. J.

Women's—2, Hilde Krahwinkel Sperling, Germany; 3, Anita Liz-ana, Chile; 4, Jadwiga Jedrejow-ska, Poland; 5, Alice Marble, San Francisco; 6, Mms. Rene Math-ieu, France; 7, Dorothy Round, England; 8, Kay Stammers, Eng-land.

These athletes came with the hope of cracking records in the premier college meet of the country. From a check of their performances in early season meets, it is evident that few of the 14 meet records up for attack are safe.

GET IN THE SWIM!

This is the fifth of a series of illustrated articles about swimming and beach games (starts).

BY JACK POBUC
Noted Swimming Instructor

There is no excuse for awkwardness. Time should be taken to develop grace of movement and muscular control.

Swimming combines control, relaxed condition, and rhythm.

If you ever have observed a tap dancer, you no doubt have marveled at the loose-jointed, yet rhythmic performance.

Rhythm is the result of regular, unceasing practice.

To the average individual the word "practice" is a bit distasteful because it means work, but it is the only way through which proficiency can be achieved.

No matter how much your swimming instructor tells you, nor how much you pay him, unless you put in time for practice you will not learn to swim.

EXERCISES
The combined exercise of Lesson No. 4 will be repeated to-day, this time with concentration on performing the movements in a more rhythmic manner. Assume the floating leg position on stool.

JOB HUNTING ROADWORK
All of Braddock's roadwork was done on New Jersey docks in the early morning hours—looking for a job. His workouts consisted of unloading railroad ties from lighters to gondola cars.

Braddock traces his improved left hand to this work, which is done with a longshoreman's hook. He had to use his left hand. He worked for weeks with his right hand broken.

In early starts Braddock demonstrated ability to weather punishment under the most trying conditions.

Against Herman Germany Heller, he had a broken collarbone.

It was not until he knocked the pins from under Tuffy Griffiths that the public learned that he entered the ring with a swollen ankle.

He battled Hans Birkie with two broken ribs.

Informed that his right hand had to be rebroken and set at a cost he and Joe Gould couldn't raise in those days of little purses, Braddock deliberately rebroke it with his first punch at Paul Swiderski's head, and took a 10-round decision with one good fist.

He fractured his right hand and thumb on three or four occasions. While a middleweight, Braddock twice bagged the New Jersey amateur heavyweight championship by flattening three opponents who each outweighed him by 50 pounds or more.

Baer was beaten when he got a

THE FAMILY FIGHTER WASN'T AFRAID OF WORK

Hungry, on relief—THROUGH—Braddock three years ago struggled from the floor to knock out Corn Griffin.

It was an obscure preliminary, but it lifted the gaunt man from the Weehawken wharves and back to the big time.

Braddock did not receive the call to fight Griffin until the night before the scrap, which was the semi-final to the Baer-Carnera match.

Jersey Jim was a substitute and considered a soft one for Griffin, then his big explosive on his way to the top.

ABSENT FLYING START

Braddock commenced to show the fighting spirit of his forebears from Galway at an early age. His uncle, another James, was a rough and tumble fighter on the other side. Another uncle, Tim, besides being handy with his dukes, was a great runner.

Jimmy Braddock demonstrated early superiority over rivals attending St. Joseph's parochial school of West New York, N. J., and became champion of his class at the age of 16. Jimmy and a schoolmate, Johnny Morris, had a long-standing feud that lasted through 30 bloody battles.

The heavyweight champion's decision to undertake a ring career was made at the age of 13. A messenger boy then, he read a blow-by-blow description of Jack Dempsey's cyclonic attack on Jess Willard from a newspaper bulletin board, and rooted for the Man Mauler.

Dempsey still is Braddock's idol.

We, THE PEOPLE by JAY FRANKLIN

"A GOOD OLD-FASHIONED STRIKE"

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In the guarantee to labor certain minimum rights, which have been upheld by the supreme court, it will be amusing to learn whether the passion for legality hitherto shown by our great industrialists is more 'han skin-deep.

This column proposes for the Hall of Shame: Mr. Westbrook Pegler, for his attempt to prove that, because the Supreme Court long ago ruled (unwisely) that state officials need pay no federal income-tax on their official salaries and Vice versa, President Roosevelt is a tax-dodger on the same moral level as those Wall street artists who convert pre-fabricated loop-holes in the revenue acts into triumphal arches through which millionaires may march untaxed.

Further candidacies for this new department in "We, The People" are now in order.
Copyright, 1937, Register and Tribune Syndicate

No one with even a superficial knowledge of the gory story of steel can fail to sympathize with the strikers. When workers must jeopardize their livelihoods, their families and their own lives, it cannot be said that a strike is an arbitrary or frivolous act by "outside agitators." Men do not take such risks except under a burning sense of injustice. The fight between capital and labor can never be a fair one so long as the investor merely risks some of his profits while the employee risks everything. Without knowing any more of the circumstances than that simple fact, it is possible to state that the strikers must be right and the managers dead wrong.

The provocation must be great indeed when men face police pistols and the bludgeons of that swarm of anthropoidal "deputies" who spring out of the dirt the moment industrial management crooks its little finger.

The provocation has been great. Spies, blacklisting, thuggery, beatings-up, murders, arbitrary dismissal, hard dangerous work at low wages, utter insecurity in the face of industrial feudalism—these have bred the present wave of strikes in our heavy industries.

People say that the attitude of Republic Steel and the other "independents" affected by this "little civil war" represents the grass-roots strategy of the Tories in fighting the Wagner Act and the whole New Deal. I do not know about that. I do know that when U. S. Steel and other producers signed up with the C. I. O., it was in pious expectation of a European War which would send steel-price sky-rocketing. Now it appears that the great powers aren't going to commit suicide for the convenience of our industrial Neanderthals, and that the C. I. O. contract is soon to lapse. So the policy of resistance to the Wagner law and the social order started by Republic Steel may well lead to wider hostilities on the entire economic front.

President Roosevelt has just thrown some oil on the troubled blast-furnaces in the shape of a $160,000,000 subsidized shipbuilding program which will provide a good market for steel during the next few years. Perhaps the bait of prospective ship contracts will moderate the fury of the Tom Girdlers and the other insurgents against our national labor policies.

At any rate, this is the last time strike-leaders need feel morally bound to avoid the sit-down and concentrate on the picket-line. Men are in their graves or in hospitals in Chicago, and men will die or be maimed elsewhere because the C. I. O. accepted the proposition that the picket-line was the only legal form of strike. If the reward of legality is a kick in the groin, a bullet, or the club that cracks skulls like ripe melons, why be "legal"?

Strike methods have never been legal except in so far as labor could make them effective by organized violence. At one time, striking was itself illegal, picketing was illegal, it was illegal to solicit a worker to join a labor union. What the Republicans call "law and order" was always on the side of the dollars, and police forces, sheriffs, mayors, governors, judges (and even one president) have acted as hired agents of industrial property, bound to direct the forces of government against the workers.

Now that the New Deal laws

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

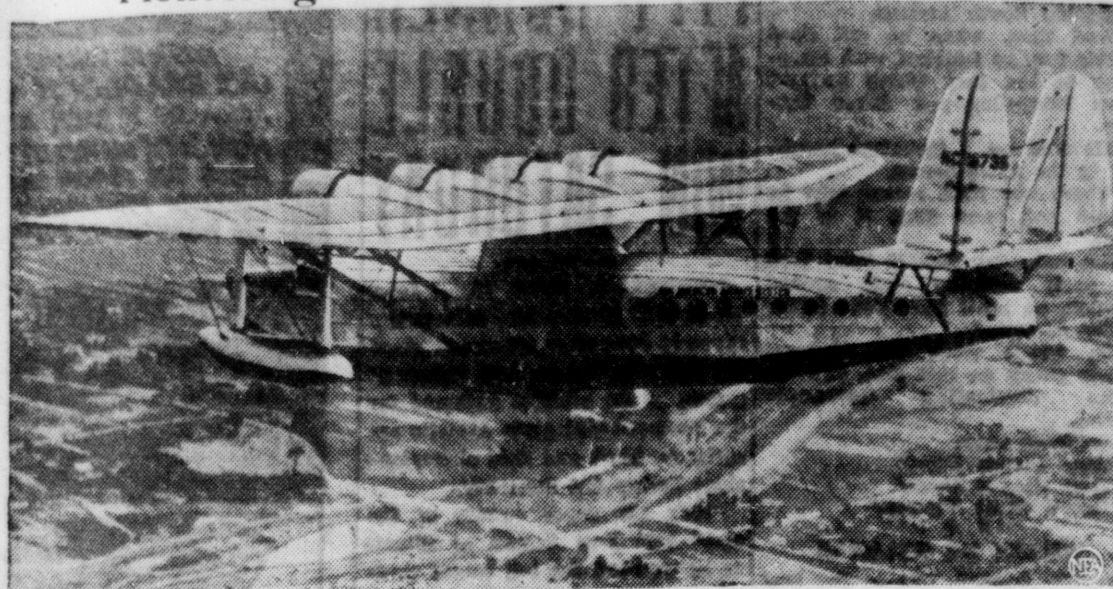

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

'Helpful Tips To Motorists Found In Meehan's Report On Questions And Answers

Important questions and answers, cited as beneficial to the motoring public, today were announced by Capt. H. C. Meehan of the California highway patrol, Orange county unit.

Capt. Meehan said the questions had been submitted to him from time to time, and were answered by him and Chief E. Raymond Cato at Sacramento.

Car Lacks Number

"I recently bought a second-hand engine for my car but I can find no number on it," wrote one motorist. "How can I register a motor?"

"First report the matter to the highway patrol office for investigation," says Cato. "If circumstances are satisfactory, a number will be given by the department of motor vehicles. However, you must satisfy department of disposition of your old motor so that your ownership and registration certificates may be corrected."

Vital Points

Other questions and answers are as follows:

"Q—Where is the safest place to carry my pink or ownership certificate which I have been told should be carried at all times and signed?"

"A—Never carry the ownership certificate with you or in your car unless you are taking the car for sale or moving to another address. The so called pink certificate is your proof of ownership and if a thief should find it he could steal and more easily dispose of your car."

"Q—Must the complete face of the registration certificate be visible at all times?"

"A—Yes; it must be so placed in the driver's compartment so that it is visible at all times."

Penalty Explained

"Q—What is the penalty for operating an automobile when the driver's license has been suspended or revoked?"

"A—It is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine not to exceed $500 or six months in jail or both."

"Q—Do pedestrians who cross streets and highways between intersections have the right of way?"

"A—When such cross walks are marked, yes."

"Q—Who may carry white painted canes?"

"A—Those who are blind or partially blind."

Tiny Sparks Touch Off Martial Fireworks

SEEMINGLY TRIVIAL INCIDENTS HAVE CAUSED SOME OF GREATEST WARS IN WORLD HISTORY

BY MORRIS GILBERT
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

The tilt of the nose of a lady called Helen being what it was, the civilized world of the epoch went to war. Greeks and Trojans fought for ten years.

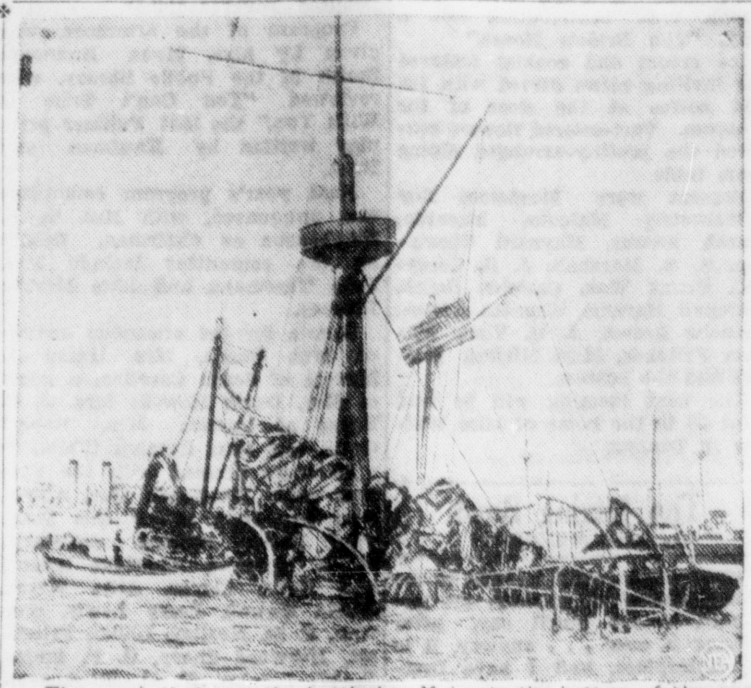

Which goes to prove that when people say, "Let's have a war," it isn't hard to start. And though there usually are underlying, fundamental reasons for international conflicts, the immediate causes—the sparks that set off the grim fireworks—often are infinitesimal.

For example—

England was laid desolate in the fifteenth century. It was a ferocious civil war, pitting village against village. Its leaders chose up sides by the ironical method of plucking roses white and red in the dreaming gardens of London's Temple. And the pretty name, "The War of the Roses," lives in history to record a period of brutality and rapine that set the nation's development back a hundred years.

End War

Three centuries later—the date was 1739—England went to war

The spark that sent the battleship Maine to the bottom of Havana's harbor was fanned into flaming hatred of Spain and involved the United States in the war with Spain.

FIG GROWERS WILL ATTEND FIELD TOUR

Fig growers from all sections of Southern California will meet at the Citrus Experiment Station for a general educational get-together in the morning and a field tour in the afternoon of Friday, June 25.

Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg said the program will start at 10:00 a. m. in the lecture room of the Citrus Experiment Station, on Box Spring road, just east of Riverside. Fig varieties for different areas of Southern California will be outlined by Dr. I. J. Condit, horticulturist.

Reports Ready

Dr. D. D. Batchelor will explain the fig research work now under way at the Experiment Station. Farm Advisors of the Southern Counties will report on the status of fig industry in their respective counties.

The field trip in the afternoon will feature orchard management, fig breeding, canning, packing and other fig production problems.

All growers are invited to attend, and requested to bring a picnic lunch. Coffee will be furnished.

INVITING INVITATION FOR '39

Fern Arnold, pirate theme girl for the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, to be held on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay, makes a pretty picture as she sails the Sacramento River aboard one of the world-famous river boats. Fern is inviting the world to attend the West's World's Fair in 1939.

CALLING all DOGS

HOT WEATHER, vs. COLD FOOD

People seem to think dogs enjoy ice-cold food in red hot weather. Perhaps dogs do enjoy such diet. But it is decidedly bad for them. Here is the idea:

In ancient days the wild dogs ate nothing that was chilled. The meat they crunched and the grass they chewed were of body heat or at least the heat of the surrounding atmosphere. The modern dog's stomach and digestive system are geared to the same temperature for food. So when you take bread or meat or cereal or other fare from the icebox on a hot day, and put it into his feeding dish, you are risking his health.

If you must give him food that has been kept in icebox or cellar, get it aside where the flies can't get at it and don't let him have it till it has had time to lose its chillness.

True, a dog can drink cold water and he can lap up a plateful of ice cream with no injury to himself. But lapping is such a slow process that the liquid has a chance to grow warmer before it reaches his stomach. Whereas he gulps his food in big mouthfuls and there is no time for the chill to be taken off it.

It is all a question of simple commonsense. But commonsense is applied far too seldom to the treatment of dogs.

Railroad Lost In Quarry Pit To Be Raised

SHERKSTON, Ont. (U.P.)—An abandoned railroad, submerged for 20 years under 42 feet of water in an old quarry near here, may be salvaged this summer.

At the bottom of the quarry lie two locomotives, more than 100 dump cars, a large pump and nearly 15 miles of tracks. The equipment was abandoned during the World War when high freight rates made it unprofitable to continue working the quarry. Pumps were stopped and two large springs along the bottom of the pit quickly filled it, forming a clear, blue lake which for years has provided an excellent swimming "hole" for nearby residents.

Recently, a diver, employed by Morris Michnick, of Hamilton, Ont., a scrap iron dealer, descended into the "lake" in search of the long-abandoned railroad equipment. He located the pump, 15 dump cars and scores of rails.

Although a slight mishap halted the operations temporarily, Michnick said diving will be resumed soon. He is negotiating with the owners of the quarry, the Empire Limestone Co., for possible purchase of the equipment.

Believing the long submerged has caused little or no damage, Michnick hopes to salvage the pump and the rails and sell them for commercial use. The rest of the equipment will be sold for scrap iron, he said.

Current high prices for scrap metal prompted Michnick to attempt the salvaging operations.

Governor Given Report On Bills

SACRAMENTO, Cal. June 16—(UP)—State Finance Director Arlin E. Stockburger today sent to Gov. Frank F. Merriam an analysis prepared by department experts of special appropriation bills totaling approximately $42,000,000.

The measures were approved by the legislature and would represent expenditures in excess of the $438,000,000 biennial budget enacted before the lawmakers adjourned two weeks ago.

The governor has not indicated what action he will take on the bills, other than to announce that he "will make available money as far as possible." In view of Merriam's repeated demands for governmental economy, it was believed drastic cuts in the special appropriations were certain.

Youth Arrives In 'Iron Lung' Friday

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14—(UP)—Longshoremen will be dressed in surgical gowns and masks to move Frederick Snite, Jr., and his "iron lung" from a ship to a railroad car when the S. S. President Coolidge arrives Friday.

The youth is enroute to his home in Chicago from the Orient, where he was stricken with Infantile Paralysis during a world tour. He lives in an artificial respirator and physicians were taking every precaution to avoid germ infection during his homeward trip.

Pullman company officials have prepared an observation car for the transfer. Railings and glass partitions at the rear have been removed to admit the huge respirator in which Snite is enclosed.

WORKERS INVITE WORKERS

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UP)—Colorado Springs Standard Workers have issued an invitation to 30,000 Standard Oil company representatives throughout the east to spend their vacation in the Pikes Peak region. Individual invitations were sent to the representatives listing the advantages of spending their vacations in this region.

For centuries, Spanish rule in Cuba had been an offense to mankind. Americans resented the tyranny going on just off their coasts. Insurrection had started and failed several times.

A crisis rose early in 1898. On Jan. 25, the battleship "Maine" entered Havana harbor, its mission to protect Americans. On Feb. 15 the vessel was destroyed by an explosion, with a loss of 266 lives. A naval inquiry board reported that the explosion had been caused by an exterior mine. Cool heads later felt that there was a possibility the act had been deliberate, or that it might have been accomplished by Cuban patriots to provoke a war. In any event, it did.

The Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria and his morganatic wife, the Duchess of Hohenburg, were assassinated by a bomb while they were visiting the town of Sarajevo in Bosnia. The act was a Individual invitations were sent to the representatives listing the advantages of spending their vacations in this region.

For centuries, Spanish rule in Cuba had been an offense to mankind. Americans resented the tyranny going on just off their coasts. Insurrection had started and failed several times.

A crisis rose early in 1898. On Jan. 25, the battleship "Maine" entered Havana harbor, its mission to protect Americans. On Feb. 15 the vessel was destroyed by an explosion, with a loss of 266 lives. A naval inquiry board reported that the explosion had been caused by an exterior mine. Cool heads later felt that there was a possibility the act had been deliberate, or that it might have been accomplished by Cuban patriots to provoke a war. In any event, it did.

The Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria and his morganatic wife, the Duchess of Hohenburg, were assassinated by a bomb while they were visiting the town of Sarajevo in Bosnia. The act was a

The Mixing Bowl

By ANN MEREDITH

This recipe really belongs in the bride's school of cookery, the advanced course you'll say, after looking it over . . . anyway, it is a masterpiece, and I have first-hand information that it makes grand eating.

Divinity Custard Tart

40 graham crackers mixed with 1-3 cup melted butter

Beat together:

4 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1-3 cup cornstarch
1-2 teaspoon, each, salt and vanilla
Add 4 cups hot milk, and Cook in double boiler until thick; then cool

1 cup chopped dates
4 egg whites beaten with 8 tablespoons powdered sugar
1 cup chopped walnuts
1-2 cup graham cracker crumb mixture

Make the custard first of all, and let it cool. Then crumb the graham crackers and mix with the melted butter, using your fingers. Reserve a half-cup for the top of the pie, use the rest to line a deepish pie plate, patting it against the cold buttered sides and bottom in a thick layer. Slip this into a 45 degree oven just long enough to crisp and harden the meal.

Arrange the dates on bottom of pan, carefully spoon the custard over dates, smooth the meringue over custard, sprinkle with nuts then with cracker crumbs.

Bake the tart for 30 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Cool on kitchen table before putting away to chill. Cut your pie into eight portions and wear your best pussy-cat smile when you serve it!

I hate to bring up the subject of curves and double chins, but do you, by any chance, need a good reducing diet? We have a fine one we'd be glad to send if you will write to it, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HONORABLE MENTION

Lumberjack's Delight, A Super-Cake

Stir together:
1 cup seeded raisins, ground
1 cup boiling water mixed with 1 teaspoon soda. Cool.
(Add)
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1-2 cup sweet milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon, each, nutmeg and cinnamon
2 cups sifted cake flour.
Whip the mass until very smooth, then
Stir in:
1-2 cup melted butter.

See how easily this cake is made? Everything but butter dumped in to a big mixing bowl, the electric beater started and allowed to go a. w. o. l. Of course, there's nothing in the book that says you can't use a strong egg beater, as long as you can take it! Bake the cake in layers or as a sheet cake. The frosting is up to you.

Cornmeal Parker House Rolls
1 cfp white flour sifted with 2 1-2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt and 3 tps. of sugar
1 cup yellow corn meal stirred in flour.
4 tablespoons shortening blended with flour
1 egg beaten, mixed with 1 cup milk
As you see, just a biscuit recipe dotted up with sugar, an egg and cornmeal. Roll into a thin sheet, cut rounds, dip one side in melted butter and fold them purse-style before placing in pan. Bake in a 450 degree oven. (Use more milk if the dough is too stiff).

TWO CLEVER APPETIZERS

a. Blend a cream-style cheese to soft texture. Wrap stuffed olives in cheese, stab with a wood pick, then roll the coated olives in finely ground walnuts.
b. Another cheese-nut creation. Take choice halves of walnuts and press them firmly into opposite sides of a small olive-shaped piece of the soft yellow cheese. (It comes in the tin-foiled package.) Dust with salt and do not chill.

AUTOMOTIVE NEWS

AUTO SUPPLIES SUPPLY NEEDS OF HOUSEHOLD

Extension and adaptation of uses of various automotive supplies has opened a wide market for this type of merchandise among housewives, according to Murray Rosenfeld, general manager of the Pep Boys of California. Women patrons of Pep Boys find items whose usefulness around the house they had never before realized, Mr. Rosenfeld said.

"Chief among these articles which have been adapted to home use are oil-cans with flexible spouts, funnels which permit rapid pouring, and friction tape that really insulates", Mr. Rosenfeld said recently. "These were all originally designed for automobile use, but the housewife appreciates their improved utility over the standard items of this type commonly used in the home up until a few years ago."

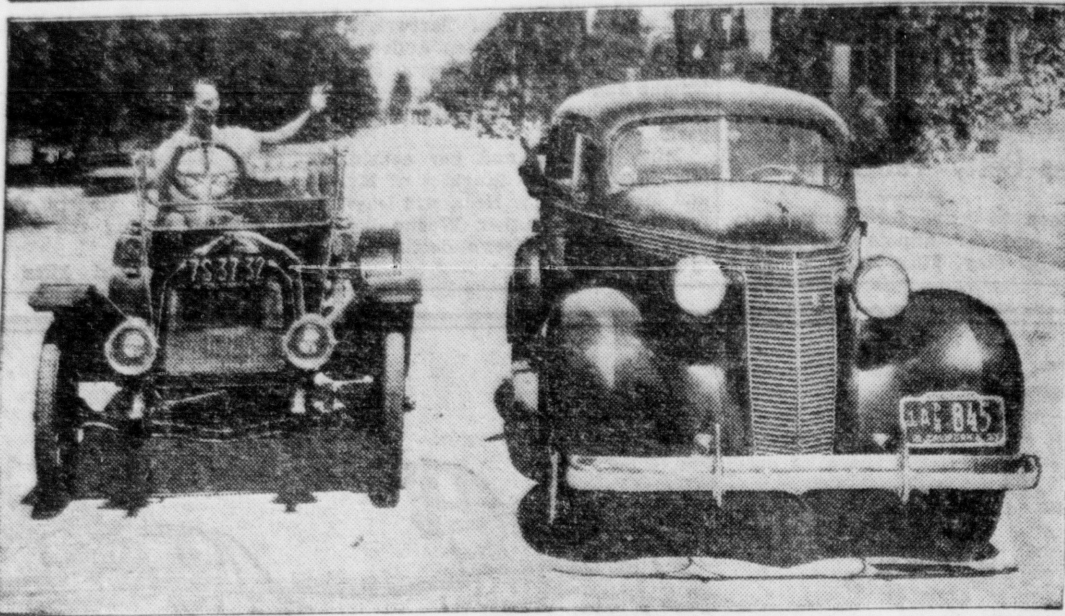

"Tools for household use have also given us an entry into this market, for our experience has been that most repair work in the home is done by the housewife. With a practical housewife attitude they have been quick to spot certain items in our stock which are extremely useful in the home."

"Another way, in which the designers of automobile accessories have been able to enter the home market, has been thought of the improvements in standard household equipment in order to make it available for the rougher usage that motoring, camping, and trailer-touring demands. Gasoline cook-stoves and irons, motor robes and blankets, and flashlights are among the many items carried by our Pep Boys stores that fall in this category. Automobile polishes and waxes, which have constantly been improved in recent years, have done their share to make house-keeping an easier task than ever before."

Adaptation of automobile accessories for household use has resulted in the inclusion of many household items in the Pep Boys stores. The local Pep Boys store, 211 North Main St. is amply equipped to fill any need for this type of article.

Some cars are now equipped with flashing signs attached to the rear of the car which have arrows pointing to the left and right. A button on the instrument board lights the proper arrow, showing the following car the direction of the turn.

YELLOWSTONE PARK GATES ARE OPENED

The north and west gates to Yellowstone National Park are open, and the motor vehicle license fee of $3.00 is now being collected, states the Touring Department of the National Automobile Club. The south and east entrances are expected to open soon, permitting travel into the Park over all entrances except that via the Red Lodge-Cooke highway. The latter is not expected to open before mid-June or early July.

All main points of interest are accessible, but it will be a few weeks before automobile campgrounds are sufficiently cleared of snow to permit camping. Meals and lodgings are obtainable at the C. A. Hamilton stores at Old Faithful and Lake, also gasoline stations and general stores are open. The Park Company will open its cafeterias and housekeeping cabins May 27 and such accommodations will prevail until June 20 when the hotels and lodges will open.

Executive Compares V-8 Motors

W. C. Cowling, Ford Motor Company, director of sales, who spent several days in Southern California as part of a nation-wide tour which was just completed, is pictured as he pointed out the economical features of the V-8 "60" engine, introduced to the Ford line for 1937. According to Cowling, owners report from 22 to 27 miles per gallon of gasoline with this new engine size. Shown in comparison is the larger and more powerful Ford V-8 "85" engine, which has proven so popular in Ford cars.

APPOINT MAYO CONSULTANT AT HUPP FACTORY

DETROIT, Michigan, June 16. — Following five years of partial retirement, William B. Mayo, for 19 years associated as engineer and chief engineer with the Ford Motor company, again will become active in the automotive field, as consulting engineer of the Hupp Motor Car corporation.

The addition of Mayo, as consultant to the Hupp engineering staff at a time when a completely new Hupmobile is being prepared for early production, is considered a significant move and important news in the automobile industry. Mayo, internationally recognized as a leading automotive engineer, will assume his new duties at once.

Mayo first became known in Detroit in 1913 when he introduced the large combination gas-steam engines, which he had developed, and which he installed in the Highland Park plant of the Ford Motor company. Immediately recognizing his ability as an engine expert, Henry Ford hired Mayo and he soon became chief engineer of the company. Later Mayo became interested in air travel, and he was placed in charge of Ford's aviation division. He retired from the Ford organization, September 1, 1932, "to take a much-needed vacation, and give his attention to certain engineering developments."

And now Mayo returns to what may be called his "first engineering love"—the automotive industry. His broad engineering knowledge and the benefit of his long years of experience will be available to Frank E. Watts, Hupp vice-president in charge of engineering, and his staff.

"I have followed with deep interest the recent developments at Hupp," Mayo declared. "The new Hupmobile, I am positive, will make a great hit with the public and will have immediate acceptance. Hupp always has had the enviable reputation of manufacturing a fine car. The one to be introduced this year will be the greatest in all Hupmobile history. I can vouch for that."

The United States produces an average of 2,760,000,000 bushels of corn annually.

MOTOR SAFETY DEPENDENT ON STURDY TIRES

A motorist's safety depends on his tires to a much larger degree than is generally recognized.

This is the statement of Mr. Jerry Hall, local U. S. tire dealer, 2nd and Main Sts., who offers the following reasoning:

"The safest car in the world touches the road at only four points—the four tires. And they're the four most crucial points. All the marvelous safety features developed by the car manufacturers for today's cars depend, after all, on the few square inches of rubber where the tires grip the road."

"Every new safety factor in automobile design and engineering is worthy of high praise. The easy, coordinated performance of brakes. The safety construction of bodies. Shatter-proof glass. Clear vision and steadier steering."

"But there must always be a gap of several inches between the rim of the wheel and the road. And that gap must be filled with safe tires. When the big test comes, when you want to start, stop, climb, turn, speed up, slow down, you've got to depend on your tires."

"No one knows better than the car engineer that the car and its tires must be engineered as a unit, if the public is to receive all the brilliant performance of which the vehicle is capable. The moment the automotive engineer begins to design his car, U. S. tire engineers work right with him, designing the kind of tire that the performance of the new car needs, to be a safe and efficient car to drive on the road. Mile after mile, day in and day out, the new car and its U. S. tires are put through their paces together."

"This year, as for more than 40 years, U. S. tire engineers have designed the tires to meet the exacting requirements of the engineers responsible for many of America's leading cars. In this way, U. S. Royals are engineered to match the constantly improving performance of modern cars."

"It is significant that today's U. S. Royal, built for today's cars, still retains those fundamental 'U. S.' safety principles on which the tire's reputation for safe mileage has been built. For example, its cogwheel tread gives extra skid protection. The rugged sharp-edge cogs take hold like the teeth of a gear. On wet pavements they act like a windshield wiper blade, squeezing water from the path of the tire, giving positive contact with the road. Under this tread is a cord body made of the strongest cords used in tires, safety-bonded with live rubber latex, built up ply upon ply with thick interlayers of heat-resisting cushion rubber. Every ply is a safety ply, giving extra protection from blowouts.

"And this tire is built to give longer wear, through the use of tempered rubber, an exclusive 'U. S.' tread rubber, well known to millions of motorists for its toughness and safe mileage."

California has built a highway with a center barrier of oiled gravel rounded to a height of four inches, separating 10 and 11-foot lanes.

STUDEBAKER IN CONSTANT USE FOR 28 YEARS

The old derogatory cry of "Get a horse!" is recalled as Mayo Lansing of Covina, California drives his 1909 Studebaker through town or takes it to one of the motion picture studios to lend atmosphere for a period picture.

This 28 year-old car differs from all the other old timers oc-

"MOST PHOTOGRAPHED GIRLS" VISIT HOLLYWOOD

Here are six of the twelve "most photographed girls in the world" who are in Hollywood from New York, to appear in the forthcoming picture, "Walter Wanger's Vagabonds of 1938." Noted for their beauty, these girls have posed for illustrations used in many advertisements. With them in the above picture is another "beauty winner"—the "most photographed car in the world"—the new 1937 Dodge.

asionally used for display purposes in that it has been registered every year since 1909 and has been in continuous use since then, according to the owner.

Since this old Studebaker has never had a speedometer, the mileage it has covered is only a guess but Lansing, who as a boy back in 1909 received the car as a gift from his father, estimates it at somewhere between 400,000 and half a million miles.

In 1935 Lansing drove his prized possession from New York to California in 12 days. Had he been compelled to travel another thousand miles, there would have been little of the original car left as souvenir hunters along the way extracted a heavy toll of brass-work and trim which adorned the car originally.

Upon applying for a California state license, he found, much to his chagrin, that due to the advanced age of the vehicle it was necessary to have it registered through the stolen car division of the Motor Vehicle Department.

"Showboat" and "Diamond Jim Brady" are two of the Hollywood pictures in which it has taken part.

With the extra equipment, which included windshield, "Prestolite" headlamps and, believe it or not, the rear seat, the original price of this car was $1895. For about half that amount of money today one can buy a 1937 Studebaker Dictator with all the luxuries, even to the automatic Hillholder, included as standard equipment.

London police get a lot of trouble from careless persons. In a single year, in Brighton, a London suburb, 2100 business places were found to be insecurely closed by policemen on night patrol.

FEDERAL GRANT MADE FOR ROAD

After July 1, a Federal grant of $50,000 will be available for the improvement of 7.8 miles of the McKean road, also known as the Paradise Valley road, leading southerly from New Almaden, reports the San Jose office of the National Automobile club.

Present plans call for resurfacing the road from a point just south of the Calero reservoir to seven miles south thereof. This would provide a secondary route north and south, paralleling the Monterey highway. At its south end, the road forks into the Hecker pass. Such a highway would serve as a feeder to Watsonville, Salinas and Monterey, could be used to by-pass U. S. 101 when heavy rains flood the Madrone subway, a common occurrence last winter.

It is anticipated that work will start on this secondary highway early in the fall.

WESTERN AUTO EVENT OFFERS HUGE SAVINGS

"Your old tires are worth money to you in making summer touring safer," declares Robert Harmon, manager of the Western Auto Supply Company store here, in announcing that his firm is offering greater allowances on old tires traded in on the purchase of new Western Giants during the firm's Mid-Season Savings Event, now in progress.

"This is a most timely event for automobile owners," he points out, "for it comes at a time when touring season is nearing its height, and motorists are equipping their cars for safety and comfort on vacation tours and the many week-end trips they will be taking during the rest of the summer."

"The need for safe tires on the open highway is emphasized by newspaper accounts of recurrence of tragedies caused by blowouts and other tire failure that could be avoided by replacement of worn tires before they get to the dangerous stage of weakened sidewalls and smooth-worn treads," Harmon adds.

"In addition to safety, greater comfort and economy are also realized, when one has installed new Western Giants all around, for steering is easier, riding is cushioned and gasoline consumption is reduced."

The opportunities to save money which are afforded by the great Western Auto event, is not limited to tires alone, but also includes extra savings on batteries, and many automobile accessories and camping needs.

A truck bought in 1915 is used daily by a man in South Carolina. He saws wood by jacking up the rear end and putting the belt around the wheel. He carries five cords of wood every day.

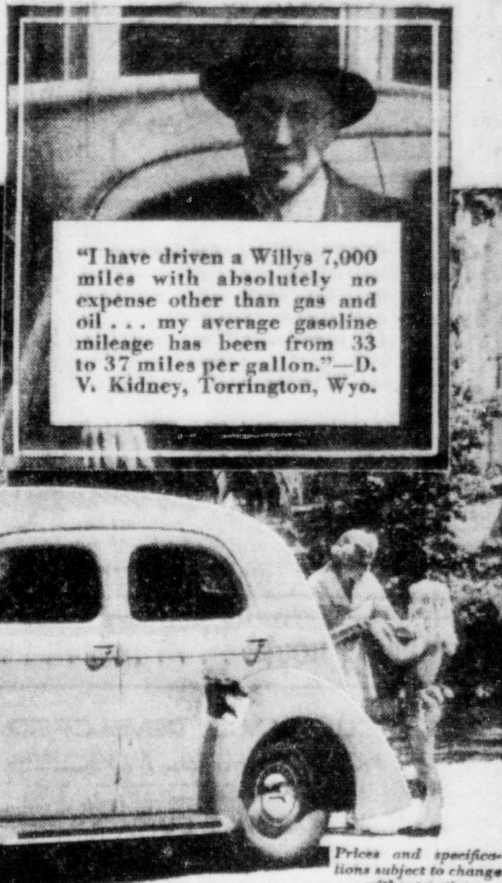

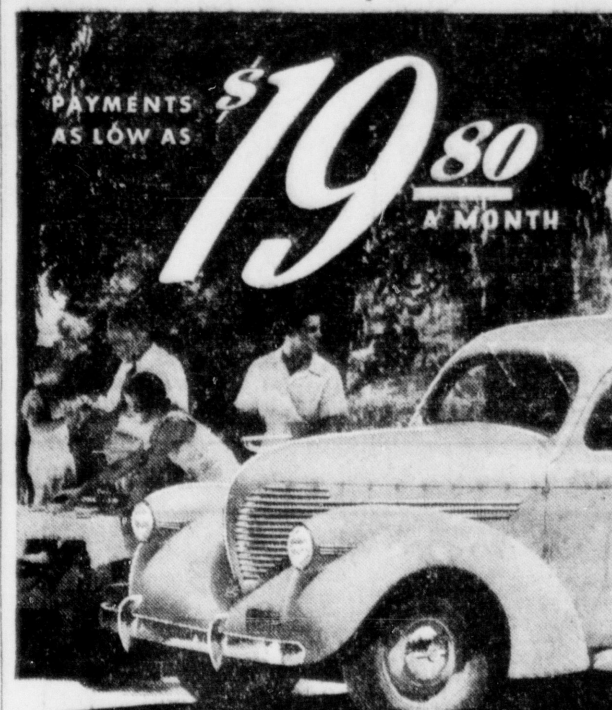

ADVISE DRIVERS CHECK LICENSES

Check the expiration date of your operator's license before starting on your week end or vacation trip, warns the License Department of the National Automobile club. Many motorists forget that these licenses expire every two years, and find to their chagrin that their license has been invalid anywhere from a week to a year.

The Empire Guide Service, a bureau fully equipped to take care of the simplest or strangest desires of visitors has been established in Vancouver, B. C., according to the Touring Department of the National Automobile club.

Competent, experienced guides are available for tours of the city or province; a day or week trip in luxury ships along the coast; a lazy holiday in a yacht under private charter; a shooting trip to the Rockies or Cariboo, abounding in small and big game; a fishing trip to lakes and rivers full of fighting fish; or any other desire of a visiting motorist who wants to make the most of his vacation time.

The organization boasts that no service is too small or too large for them to handle.

THERE's a lot more in this picture than meets the eye, though the eye has plenty to sparkle about in the stunning style of this spirited Buick car.

What you don't see here is the lift that's yours when you touch off the flashing power of Buick's valve-in-head straight-eight engine and go streaming off across the map.

What you don't see is the solid, steady feel of Buick—the firm stability that holds you on the line without weave or sway or wander on straight-aways or on the curves.

What you don't see is the assurance you'll know once you step on Buick's tiptoe brakes and see how surely and safely they make you master of its power.

We can't picture here the security that's yours in a body of steel-fused-to-steel—with floor, roof, side panels, cowl all welded into one stout unit of protective metal.

And only time can tell you how big is your money's worth in Buick—all steel and two yards wide, a big package that's your one best bet of the field when you add the superb action that gives its metals life.

All we can do is show you how a Buick looks—and handsome as this gallant traveler is, remind you that its good looks are literally the least of what it has to offer.

There's still time to make this a summer long to be happily remembered—if you'll go try a Buick now.

WITH HOMER CANFIELD

"The world will little note, nor remember what we say here—"

Hollywood, June 16—

BECALED AND STUCK, YOUR

Old Maestro was in a pretty pickle. With the kilocycles floating an even keel tonight, there seemed to be nothing of importance to talk about. The "highlights" tell the story completely.

But the mailman proved kind. You see, while he had called on W. C. Fields, yes, old W. C. himself, he of the redwood nose, to forget Charlie McCarthy long enough to do a column for us. Inasmuch as Fields is the current comedy sensation of the air, I thought it would be nice to have him here in the hall. On his afternoon round the U. S. Ambassador of Letters dumped the precious cargo on my desk. Here it is:

Hello, there, my scented rosebuds—and greetings, yes, yes, greetings from old W. C. Fields, whose eagle eyes at the very moment scan a document from your radio editor.

It was only a year ago, yes, yes, only twelve months ago that these same eyes beheld another document. Unless my memory fails me it came from the obituary fellow, yes, sir, the gentleman of the obituary column.

And what did the gentleman want? Did he ask me to bury the hatchet in the wooden head of Charlie McCarthy? Nay, nay, the

W. C. Fields

Writes Guest Column

Fields look was becalmed that day, yes, becalmed without even a zephyr to blow it to shore. Charlie McCarthy was still a heap of sassafras root, yet, a hunk of sassafras.

What the obituary vulture wanted—I think to inquire? Yes, Charlie, too, I believe it was, so help me, yes, yes, so help me it was—what the vulture wanted was my obituary for his morgue, perish the thought, twice perish the thought.

Now that the pretty nurses have brought the glint back to the old eagle eye, yes, sir, a glint to the old Fields eye, Homer Canfield wants W. C. to write a column about radio, yes, sir, a column about radio, a fascinating little invention, yes, yes, a most fascinating gadget.

And why is it fascinating, might I be permitted to inquire? Yes, I think I'll answer that, too. It's full of nickels, yes, yes, full of nickels, a kind of slot machine. You put a joke into a gadget they call a microphone and out comes a jink pot of 15,000, 20,000, 30,000 nickels, yes a million nickels. I'd like to play with it all day.

I think radio is here to stay, yes, it's a coming thing, like... redwood for a nose! When nice little woodpeckers will treat them to a juicy morsel. He's full of termites too. His name's McCarthy, Charlie McCarthy, I believe. Yes, yes, so it is, so it is.

Unless my ears deceive me, I think Paramount is calling me back to work, too. Yes, ladies and gentlemen, it is a welcome sound, like a brook babbling in lush meadow of a summer evening. Or does a brook babble? Maybe it doesn't babble, perish the thought, maybe it's Charlie McCarthy I hear.

"Things Began to Happen," they say, is the name of my new picture. Nice title, yes, yes, nice title, only it's trite, it's moss eaten, it's full of termites. Things began to happen the day I got caught in the NBC networks, yes, sir, caught like an electric eel in a short circuit, yes, yes, a short circuit named McCarthy, perish his memory.

Was it radio I was writing about? Yes, so it was, so it was. Everybody ought to have one, who knows, yes, who knows, someday they might sell them in stores. Kids can use them for dime banks and mothers for washing machines, yes, yes, washing machines. I love kids, so I do, old W. C. loves kids. They're cute little rascals. You push a button and they say "mama." Some day I'll own one, yes, so I will, so I will.

Until then, this is W. C. Fields saying goodnight, the courtesy of NBC and Paramount will show all Spanish talking pictures weekly on Wednesday and Thursday.

The best of pictures made in the heart of Mexico will be shown and it is an education to students of foreign languages to attend these showings as well as those who enjoy productions made in foreign countries.

The first Spanish feature will be "Vamonos con Pancho Villa," the life history of the famous Mexican general. Added short subjects will round out the bill and two complete shows will be presented starting at 6:30.

DRIVE CAREFULLY - SAVE A LIFE -

SHARING ONE'S GARDEN

Orange County abounds in beautiful gardens, but many of them are hidden from the public eye.

Among the outstanding gardens is that of J. Heinecke on Tustin avenue at Santa Clara.

Flowers rare to Southern California have been successfully grown by Mr. Heinecke and the blossoms are profuse at the present time.

Mr. Heinecke is justly proud of his garden and spends many a happy hour wandering about amid the flowers. But he does not keep this happiness to himself. Graciously he has opened his gardens to the public that other flower lovers may enjoy them.

The Heinecke gardens are open to anyone on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week and by appointment on other days.

This gracious act on the part of Mr. Heinecke is most commendable and undoubtedly is appreciated, for hundreds of visitors have taken advantage of his hospitality.

It is getting so that no prominent American who makes speeches can claim to have attained any distinction at all unless something that he says has made Herr Hitler's Nazis raise an angry protest.

This distinction was attained most recently by Dr. Robert A. Millikan, the Nobel prize-winning physicist of California Tech. In a speech at Copenhagen he was quoted as saying that "the world has not known for 300 years a reaction similar to that prevailing today, attempting to lead mankind back to an authoritative irrationality and scientific superstition."

As you might expect, this drew fire from Germany. The Nazi newspaper, "Voelkischer Beobachter," deplored the "tactlessness" of the remark, and predicted that Danish public opinion "will value tact and courtesy enough to disapprove such gross misuse of hospitality."

Mild enough as Nazi protests go. But it does give Dr. Millikan the accolade without which no public speaker nowadays can feel that he has said something worth saying.

EXAMPLE FOR EUROPE

From force of habit or by grace of a consuming ego, the European powers continue to regard themselves as the guardians of all Europe. But while those powers are haggling over the spoils of other people's wars, a group of seven smaller European nations is showing one avenue to prosperity and peace.

These seven nations, comprising the Oslo conference, have just ended talks which resulted in greatly enlarged freedom of trade among themselves. Holland, Belgium and Luxemburg, users of the quota system for imports, have agreed not to increase customs duties on products of the other signers. Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland, in return, promised not to adopt the quota system and not to increase duties on products of immediate interest to the other signers.

This is a happy divergence from the European attitude most familiar to us. As an approach to improved trade relations and better general understanding, it could well be used as a pattern not only by European "guardian" powers, but by the United States as well.

BEING GOOD HOSTS

The importance of helping tourists enjoy their vacations in Southern California cannot be overlooked. When we extend the tourist a warm welcome, and see that he is informed about the many different things to see and do here, not only are we being "good hosts," but the community benefits in at least three ways:

One—The tourist will stay longer, meaning a greater financial return to the community. If each tourist last year had been induced to stay even one extra day, seven million more tourist dollars would have been added to the Southland's income, according to the All-Year Club of California statistics.

Two—He will be inclined to come again, to have another good time and to see the attractions he didn't have time for, but was told about, on his first trip. The tremendous increase in competition for the tourist business has greatly complicated the problem of getting tourists to return a second time, as well as making the first trip harder to sell.

Three—He will be a "walking advertisement" for Southern California back home, influencing his friends to vacation here.

If Southern California actually becomes a "friendly" vacation land, the result will be worth millions. For these tourist guests of the community pay their way, providing employment supporting many more local citizens, sharing our tax burdens, supporting our business and industry.

Thou mayest be sure that he that will in private tell thee of thy faults is thy friend, for he adventures thy dislike, and doth hazard thy hatred. There are few men that can endure it, every man for the most part delighting in self-praise, which is one of the most universal follies that bewitcheth mankind.—Sir Walter Raleigh.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life—

By R. C. Hoiles

Sharing Comforts vs. Sharing Wealth
True democracy is an attempt to share the comforts of life: pure democracy attempts to share the comforts by sharing the wealth—the capital. The one is possible, the other is not.

That part of wealth which is used as capital cannot be shared; only poverty can be shared. An attempt to share capital means an attempt to share management. It means that, with one man, one vote, the inefficient person has as much to say about management of production of comforts as the genius. The result is a much smaller production and, consequently, fewer comforts to be shared.

In order to share fairly the comforts of life—to have true democracy—no individual can be permitted to consume too much of the comforts of life. One way of preventing anyone from having too many comforts of life is by preventing him from getting too much wealth in his possession. But this method greatly reduces the total production and thus prevents others from having the comforts of life they could have if the natural division of capital and labor were not interfered with by law.

Reduction, however, in consumption of the comforts of life by extravagant and undemocratic people, if done in the right manner, greatly increases the total production of all comforts. This is true because these saved comforts, in order to be preserved, are turned, of necessity, into capital—equipment, vegetation and food producing animals—so that the total comforts by this increase of capital are greatly increased. This process of greatly increasing the total comforts and reducing the consumption of comforts by the rich, greatly increases the amount of comforts available to the mass of the workers. This, in the light of experience and reason, seems to be the only practical way of making better jobs for all—of sharing comforts.

Pure democracy in attempting to share the wealth needed as capital, is sharing in management. And as a result, pure democracy never lasts long. This is due to the fact that there is a great difference in the foresight and judgment of people. And to permit wealth to be managed by those without foresight, is to destroy it.

The framers of the Constitution had no thought of establishing pure democracy. Americanism does not mean sharing the wealth, or pure democracy. It means sharing the comforts of life. It means that no man is to be permitted enough power to consume too many of the comforts of life to the detriment of the great mass of workers.

We have been attempting, by various laws, for years to share the comforts of life. The aim is noble and worthy of the support of every true progressive. We have attempted to do this by a graduated tax on income and by inheritance and gift taxes; by labor laws, and by banking laws, making money (credit) easy.

But, instead of sharing the comforts as these laws were intended, we only are sharing poverty and it is becoming more and more evident that poverty will become more universal the more we attempt to share the wealth of the country by these methods.

But all good things come through evolution. The purpose of these laws was a step in the right direction. They were an attempt to move in the direction of true democracy. The results however have been exactly opposite from the intended purpose. These laws are only causing us to share poverty and not comforts.

The ideal should not be abandoned, but the method should be corrected.

Instead of a man because he adds to the sum total of comforts of all the people, we should tax a man because he refuses to manage his wealth so as to add to the comforts of the masses. In other words, we should have a graduated tax on those who appropriate too many comforts of life to their own personal use.

In order to share the comforts, to have true democracy, every effort should be made to prevent any special privileges—monopolies—in securing either small amounts of comforts or large amounts. If people are successful in evading laws to prevent them from getting the comforts of life without producing them, we must have some method of preventing them from getting the benefits of these comforts. This can be done by a graduated tax on personal spending.

When we bring these conditions about, eliminating monopolies and preventing any group, no matter how capable they may be, from appropriating too many of the comforts of life to themselves at the exclusion of others, then we have true democracy. True democracy is the only kind of government that makes a large amount of comforts available for the masses; the only kind of government that develops initiative and true education; the only kind of government that produces the maximum aggregate happiness over a period of years.

Thought depends absolutely on the stomach, but in spite of that, those who have the best stomachs are not the best thinkers.

LEWIS'S LOGIC

Reprinted from New York Herald Tribune

It is no surprise to learn that the ultimate goal of Mr. John L. Lewis's drive to unionize the mass industries is the closed shop. He has made this ambition plain from the beginning and specifically in his original demands on the General Motors and Chrysler corporations. However, it is well to have him on record. And when he again renders lip service to the principle of industrial democracy there should be no misapprehension of fraud. The degree of democracy he has in mind is that which prevails today in the United Mine Workers of America, a closed-shop, check-off union, whose members pay their dues and conform with his capricious will or suffer either back-breaking fines or economic exile.

It follows very naturally that he is opposed to union incorporation or any other form of public supervision which would curtail the autocracy he enjoys and seeks to extend. Once make him accountable for union funds; once subject his authority to order strikes or strike settlements to an honest vote of union members; once give the rank and file a check on any detail of his administration, and the democracy he extols and loathes might gain a foothold.

DEDICATE SEA WALL

Appropriate services will be held on Balboa Island Saturday, marking the completion of the $200,000 sea wall around the island.

Announcement of the program reveals that practically every resident of Balboa Island will participate in one way or another. Beginning with a parade at 3 o'clock in the afternoon there will be some sort of entertainment until late at night.

The completion of the sea wall is the culmination of years of untiring effort on the part of civic minded citizens of Newport Beach and Balboa Island. The construction of the sea wall adds much to the protection of the island residents.

So it is with joy and gratitude that the populace will join in the dedicatory services on Saturday.

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

SUMMER DRESS

The warm days make clothes an irritation. The children beg for relief. They want to wear shorts, bathing suits and what-ever other abbreviations of costume the law and regulation allow. Mothers are torn between their dread of neighborly criticism and the children's demands. How little can the children wear and still stay within the safety margin of public approval?

The stay-at-home children have the best of it. They can shed most of their garments and enjoy the freedom of movement and the coolness that results. The baby can be stripped and laid on his bed to exercise his body and enjoy the feel of the air flowing over it. It is the older children that get into trouble with hot-weather garments and society's opinions about them.

Good manners and good taste are restrictions on desires and feelings that we could ill-afford to be without. We can live in community groups only when we observe that decent regard for the rights and opinions of others which we have ascribed to in our national code. The children have to learn to limit their wants and wishes accordingly lest they be visited by unexpected punishment. Shorts are not the costume for young girls attending school. Of course girls have the right to wear them. Equally, of course, mothers of half-grown boys have the right to object to their wearing them in classrooms where their boys are. The question is not one of rights so much as it is one of manners and good taste. The price for wearing such a costume, for insisting upon the right to wear it in formal gatherings, such as school and church, costs too much. It is better to wear a cool summer costume acceptable to the formal standards of school or church and keep the shorts for recreation time.

The same thing holds for the half-grown boys who show a preference for gym shirts, bathing suits that consist of brief trunks, on occasions that call for neither gymnastics nor bathing. Good taste selects the fitting costume for the occasion. When boys and girls of later adolescence insist on wearing informal dress on formal occasions one suspects that it is not just a matter of the temperature.

Young people must remember the feelings of the older people about them and not offend them by under-dressing even in warm weather. It is possible to be cool and still be good-mannered. Good manners, another term for common decency, are more important to young people than their physical comfort for the few hours of social obligation.

Little Benny's Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

Me and pop was taking a walk before supper and I said, He seems Puds Simkins's father, G. look at the size of his new hat.

Meening big, and pop said, Yee gods how can an allegedly intelligent man make such a spectacle of himself and apparently be unaware of it? That lid is 2 sizes too big and seems to be still growing, he said.

Why don't you tell him about it, pop? I said, and pop said, By golly I believe I will. I know I'd want somebody to tell me I was hiding my bean under a bushel basket. I don't believe in this principle of attending strictly to your own bizzness no matter who suffers. Why should a poor nuff be aloud to go on making a fool of himself when a kindly word would get him rite? pop said.

Wich just then Mr. Simkins said, Good afternoon, nice day, isn't it? and pop said, Not bad, I see you have a new hat?

Yes, what do you think of my Panama? Mr. Simkins said, and pop said, Well uh, it's a trifle on the large side, isn't it?

Well if it is that's news to me, after me paying 17 bucks for it and having every salesman in the hat department pat me on the back and congratulate me. Mr. Simkins said. What do you mean too big, are you trying to kid me? You're not jellies, are you? he said, and pop said, Certainly not, yee gods it's too small if anything, but as a matter of fact it's no anything, I mean it's swell, it's a perfect hat and a marvelous fit, I don't know how you do it, Simkins, you must have a flair for that sort of thing.

And we kept on going, pop saying, Let them suffer and like it, that's my motto now on. Meening if people can't find out their own mistakes he's not going to help them. (Protected, 1937, by George Matting, thew Adams Service.)

Greatly Expanded Production Required For Full Recovery

By HAROLD G. MOULTON

President, The Brookings Institution

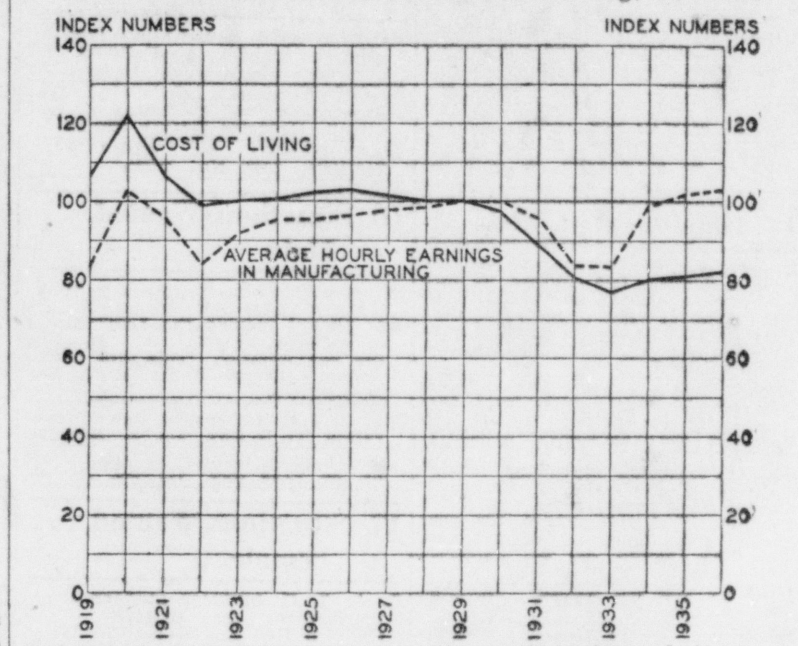

WASHINGTON—Recovery in the United States has gone far, but it has been marked by two striking characteristics — slowness of the gains in the durable goods industries and the persistence of a great volume of unemployment. At the Brookings Institution, we have made a comprehensive analysis of the American situation which included a detailed study of the production requirements task ahead—of standards of living are to be restored even to their former level—is found to be as follows:

1. To make good the actual deterioration of plant and equipment sustained during the depression.
2. To increase productive capital in line with the growth of population.
3. To expand the output of consumption goods in accordance with this growth of population.

The study was made under a grant from the Falk Foundation of Pittsburgh. In it, we sought to estimate how great an increase in output would be required to respect.

Further Expansion Threatened
In recent months, particularly since February, the situation has changed in one vitally important respect. Rapid increases in raw

"Real" Hourly Earnings in Manufacturing, 1920-36

The above chart illustrates the improvement in "real" hourly earnings of manufacturing workers that took place from 1919 to 1937. Earnings moved upward, while the cost of living went down, making it possible for workers to buy more for their money. This is particularly noticeable in the recovery period since 1932. It should be kept in mind, however, that the average number of hours worked has been substantially reduced in recent years. On the other hand, the buying power of the consumer's dollar has increased somewhat more than is indicated because of improvement in the quality of goods and services used in the cost-of-living index.

store by 1941 a per capita level of production and consumption equal to that of 1929. The results of the survey of the situation in the fields of housing and other forms of durable goods, steam railroads, public utilities, industrial enterprises, etc., are striking. It would be necessary to produce such durable goods at the rate of approximately $3 billion dollars annually from 1937 through 1941, as compared with actual production of only 21 billions in 1926, and of 25 billions annually in the boom period between 1925 and 1929.

In other words, to make up for what it did not produce in depression years, and to provide for the needs of an expanding population, the nation would have to produce annually 60 per cent more goods than in 1926. Three times as much housing construction would be necessary. In the field of non-durable, consumption goods which are such things as food, clothes, and amusements, such a large expansion would not be needed.

Labor Shortage Might Result
The production program required in the field of durable goods would necessitate—at present working hours—the employment of from 8 to 9 million additional laborers. Making allowance for additional workers needed to produce consumption goods, it appears certain that unless working hours were lengthened, there would be shortage of both skilled and unskilled labor.

Since standards of living cannot be restored to former levels unless productive output is restored, any further shortening of the working week will restrain the expansion of output and thus restrict the raising of standards of living. It should be borne in mind that working hours have been reduced since 1929 by approximately 20 per cent, as compared with only 13 per cent in the preceding 30 years.

The present recovery movement has been marked by steadily increasing wage rates as compared with prices, and this has increased purchasing power among the masses. The employment of more workers as production has expanded has increased the flow of money to the working population; and at the same time those already employed have been able to buy more with their wages. During the same period, profits have been greatly increased from low depression levels as a result of the expansion of output and an increase of efficiency. This efficiency increase has been

Large sections of the population would soon suffer as a result of a rapid rise in prices. Among them are farmers who do not work for wages, individuals on fixed salaries; and those living on incomes from investments. These constitute more than half the total population.

Perhaps the most serious phase of the problem is the possibility of a new disparity between industrial and agricultural prices which may result if wages force industrial prices upward.

Stimulation Only Temporary
The adverse effects upon production may be considerably delayed, because a rise in prices usually stimulates business for the time being. With prices going up, business men and others hasten to place orders and buy extra quantities in order to be ahead of the price advance. This speeds up business activity and for a time increases the demand for labor. Such expansion of demand in turn serves to increase the demand for products and to raise prices the more rapidly. In due course, however, price relationships are so disturbed that certain groups of people lose purchasing power. This, in turn, sets in motion forces which tend to reduce prosperity.
